NORTHERN ALABAMA.

Since the convention, I have made a tour of the whole State, but reserved my letters on account of the bad state of mail facilities. With, perhaps, the exception of East and West Tennessee, there is no county or people, in any single State, who differ so widely as Northern and Southern Alabama. The people differ in almost everything, including politics.

From Stevenson to Huntsville there are two or three ranges of hills, which are detached spurs of the Cumberland chain. Between these hills are some very fertile valleys, called by the people coves. West of Huntsville is what is known as the Tennessee (or Tuscumbia) Valley, which is one of the richest tracts of country in the South, and well adapted to the raising of both corn and cotton; and I will add here, that there are hundreds of plantations for sale or lease in this section. As I have before stated, the people in Northern Alabama are full of patriotism, and the old star-spangled banner may be seen flying from many of the houses, both in town and country.

The principal place in Northern Alabama is the City of Huntsville, and it is the most delightful inland town in the South. Gen. Grierson commands the district of Northern Alabama, and has his headquarters here.

Huntsville derives its name from and immortalizes the squatter settler Hunt, who was found upon its site when the land was purchased from government. The city is one mile square, and contains a population of more than six thousand inhabitants.

The great national object of attraction is an immense spring, said to be the largest in the world, which bursts from beneath a high limestone bluff, in the very centre of the town, and giving a stream sufficient to float a batteau of 30 tons burthen. From this great fountain-head the water is forced into a reservoir 90 feet high, and from thence the town is supplied through iron pipes. A great many of the residences, however, are furnished with ample and constant wells.

The healthfulness of the place has been uninterrupted for more than twenty-five years, being entirely free from epidemics, and for which reason it has been chosen as the home of many retired professional men, and of wealthy planters, whose families exhibit in their social intercourse a high standard of morals, intelligence and refinement. Since the first Federal occupation of Huntsville by Gen. Mitchell, in the Spring of 1862, the rebels have had possession three times, yet the place has not suffered to a great extent. The people seem to live here for comfort and enjoyment, their dwellings are elegant mansions, and the style of architecture of the most fashionable and approved plan, while their grounds are richly cultivated and tastefully laid off into squares and walks, planted with the most beautiful shrubbery and flowers, giving forth odor, and evidencing a refined appreciation of the lovely and beautiful by the citizens of this garden spot of the South.

The country at large opens to the eye an extensive plateau, gently undulated, intersected by mountainous spurs, which look down upon the smiling valley, and are prominent in constituting numerous magnificent views. An hour's ride from the town lands the tourist at Montesano, a point on an adjacent mountain nine hundred feet high, where can be enjoyed a refreshing breeze, cool as if from old ocean, and a drink from a curious spring of freestone water, 61 degrees Fahrenheit, the latter affording an interesting theme for geological investigation. A yet greater curiosity is the existence upon the very mountain top of a natural well, known to be 205 feet in depth, but measured by sound, indicates the extraordinary depth of 900 feet, and which is perfectly circular and regularly formed. Huntsville is an important railroad centre, the Memphis and Charleston, and the Tennessee and Alabama railroads intersecting.

Tuscumbia, which lies five miles west of the Tennessee River, is also a delightful town, and contains a population of between 2,000 and 3,000 souls. Here may be found one of the most celebrated of the Indian springs, called Ococopasa, which signifies "cold water." The first time I was here Gen. Garfield had his headquarters within a few yards of this spring. The stream issues from beneath a high limestone bluff, and spreads into a channel fifty feet wide, but shallow. It dashes forth in its liquid light at a rate estimated to be 17,000 cubic feet a minute. The water is of excellent quality, limpid and sparkling, and retains the temperature of 60 degrees the whole year round.

The soil of the encircling valley is rich and lasting for agricultural purposes, cotton being the great staple, the yield before the war being, upon an average, one hundred thousand bales per annum, while nearly all the cereal grains were generally raised in abundance for home consumption. Many of the people hereabouts are without money, and will sell their plantations at a sacrifice.

Florence, a short distance off, is a beautiful place, with about two thousand inhabitants, lying upon both sides of the river, a few miles from Muscle Shoals. This is also in the centre of rich lands, but very little of which are in a state of cultivation this year, owing mainly to a lack of funds, tools and help. A great many murders have been committed in this vicinity within the past few months, mostly by Tennesseans from the adjoining counties. Several citizens have been burned to death over a slow fire, for refusing to give up their valuables. One case was brought to my notice, where an old gentleman and his wife and two daughters were roasted alive by seven ruffians, who believed that money was buried about the premises.

Decatur, Athens and Courtland were all thriving places before the war, but all have felt, more or less, the misfortunes and terrors of war. Soldiers of both armies have committed awful depredations, and the inhabitants are now staggering under the blows inflicted by robbery, murder, arson and rapine.

CENTRAL ALABAMA—MONTGOMERY AND SELMA.

Central Alabama is an extensive body of rich land, and is well watered by the Alabama River and its large branches. Before the war, at least in four or five counties, nothing was raised but cotton, and it was one of the very best cotton districts in the South, the land generally averaging a bale to an acre. This interior region is free from pines, and is made up of waving hills generally, with a fertility and productiveness unequaled in the Cotton States. The most extensive bodies of good land, and those which are at present the most celebrated, are between the Alabama and the Tombigbee, the bottoms of the Tallahoosa and the Black Warrior. Passing over the river that separates the waters of the Conecuh from those of the Alabama, there is an extensive body of rich land. On the head waters of Limestone Creek there is also a fine body of land. All about, in fact, there are fine swells of land, watered with frequent springs of fine water. The land is well timbered with those kind of trees that indicate a rich soil. Little or no cotton is being raised this year, and not one-half the corn crop has been gathered, on account of the scarcity of help. The nabobs of Alabama lived here in opulence. To be entertained by a central Alabamian, was to be made the recipient of the most unbounded sumptuousness. They owned negroes by the thousand, which was the chief source of all their wealth. When their negroes went, their fortunes vanished, and now many of these monarchs are without the necessary means to carry on their households. Plantations by the hundred may be bought or leased.

Montgomery, the capital of the State, is situated on the west bank of the Alabama River, directly opposite what is known as the big bend. It is a thriving city, and is located in the very heart of a healthy and fertile region. It has an extensive trade, and has fine facilities for reaching important points in the surrounding country, being connected by rail with the east and south. Immediately before the war nearly two hundred thousand bales of cotton were annually shipped to Mobile.

Montgomery enjoys the "fame" of being the "Cradle of the Confederate Government." Here it was, from a window of the very hotel at which I am stopping, where "Pope" Walker, in the zenith of his excitement, harangued a deluded crowd, and told them that ere long the Confederate flag should wave over the Capitol in Washington. Jefferson Davis, who now languishes in a Federal prison, and Judah P. Benjamin, who has fled the country, also harangued the angry multitude, the tenor of their remarks being of a still more fiery character. This was the home of Yancey, Watts, and other active leaders of the rebellion. Watts is in his political sarcophagus, and Yancey rots in yonder cemetery. A plain marble slab marks his final resting place.

I learn from those who knew him well, that Mr. Yancey had fewer personal friends than any public man in Alabama. His love of money, and his natural irascibility, led him into the perpetration of the most inhuman acts, and he went down to his unfriendly grave

"Unwept, unhonored and unsung."

It was not until about the close of the war that Montgomery saw and felt any of the devastating scenes consequent upon the great struggle. But Montgomery lay in the way of Wilson, and it was not spared. The great raider applied his torch, and finished up what public property the Confederate servants left. More cotton was stored at Montgomery, both on government and private account, than at any other point in the South. Immediately after the fall of Selma, the Confederate General in command touched off this immense amount of lint, and consigned twenty-eight millions of dollars' worth of that valuable material to the embraces of the fire king.

Gen. Wilson came in while the conflagration was at its height, and added to the fury of the flames, and the terror of the victims, by the destruction of two large foundries, a lot of government buildings, the depot, machine shops, and all the locomotives and rolling stock belonging to the Alabama and Florida and the Montgomery and West Point Railroads.

It is quite natural, then, that the people of this city should be a little distant and a little sore. It is not strange that those who have lost everything just at the close of the war, should be a little reticent. And it is not unnatural that the ladies, whose prerogative it is to be simple, should hate the Yankees. The Misses here are very sullen and naughty, and I am told that sometimes upon approaching a Federal officer, they jerk aside their calico and disclose some very pretty underpinnings. If this be true, I have been singularly unfortunate; for my optics have encountered no such delectable exhibitions.

I spent one day at Selma, the great cotton centre of the State. It is about fifty miles from Montgomery, by stage-coach, and was one of the most flourishing places in the State before and during the war. It now has a population of over six thousand. During the war and up to the time of Wilson's raid, this place turned out more than half the cannon and two-thirds of the fixed ammunition used in the Southern army. The immense foundry destroyed by Gen. Wilson was pronounced to be, by competent judges, unequaled in the world. It turned out everything in the shape of ordnance, from a 15-inch Brooks to a mountain howitzer, manufactured small arms, pistols, swords, all kinds of shot and shell and percussion caps. The machinery was all of English make, and of the completest pattern. There were nearly a hundred buildings in the inclosure, covering nearly forty acres. The iron was dug and made upon the spot, and the coal used came from a neighboring hill but a mile distant. There were several artesian wells in and near the foundry buildings, two of which are five hundred feet deep. The destruction was complete. I went all over the ruins, and pronounce them the greatest I have ever seen. Besides this foundry, Gen. Wilson destroyed several other manufactories, twenty odd warehouses filled with cotton and government supplies, all the depots and railroad shops, a number of locomotives, and a large amount of rolling stock. It is said that property to the amount of over twenty millions of dollars was destroyed in this town alone by the great Raider.

Selma is destined to be a great place, and will yet outstrip every other city in the State except Mobile. It is considerable of a railroad centre, and in point of manufactures and commercial intercourse will stand in Alabama as Atlanta does in Georgia. Already a great many Northern merchants have settled here permanently, and at least half of the buildings destroyed by Wilson are being rebuilt. It is the centre of a great mineral and agricultural region, and is connected by rail with Mississippi and Northern Alabama, and with Mobile by water, which will float small craft during all seasons of the year. Most of the citizens of Selma seem to talk fairly. They declare themselves whipped, and announce themselves determined to acknowledge the supremacy of the government and its laws.

Gen. Davies commands the middle district of Alabama. He is an officer of more than ordinary executive ability, and distinguished himself during the war for his gallant conduct and intrepid dash in many of the cavalry fights that took place in Virginia under the auspices of Stoneman, Sheridan and others. He is a son of Judge Davies, of New-York.

There are five daily papers in Central Alabama—three in Mentgomery and two in Selma. Those in Montgomery are the Mail, Advertiser, and Ledger, and those in Selma are the Times and Messenger. I believe the Times is the fairest of the five, although none of them are over patriotic.

SOUTHERN ALABAMA—MOBILE AND BLAKELY.

Leaving Central Alabama for the southern section of the State, the traveler strikes the heart of the "piney-woods country," when within about eighty miles from Mobile. On the Florida side there is a large section of swampy country, timbered with cypress and gum-trees and loblolly pines. With cultivation and care small cotton and maize can be made. But there are so many rich belts of land in the State, that the pine barrens are held in very little estimation. This "piney-woods country" is the most monotonous I have ever seen—the traveler tires by its uniformity.

The Southern District of Alabama is commanded by Gen. De Russy, with headquarters in Mobile. This is also the headquarters of the Department of Alabama, Gen. Wood commanding.

Mobile is the largest and most important city in the State, and at the present time contains upwards of fifty thousand inhabitants. It is the commercial capital of the State; and next to New-Orleans is the greatest cotton market in the Union, nearly a million bales having been exported in a single year. With the exception of what is termed the unhealthy season, Mobile is considered very healthy, being built on a plain that rises near fifteen feet above tide water. The breezes from the sea render the atmosphere pure, which, together with the climate, make it a delightful place to live in during the Fall and Winter months. The city is supplied with water brought from a neighboring hill, and distributed through the town in iron pipes.

The Mobile people are quite sore, and at present are only loyal because they have to be. But, really, I think they are entitled to our sympathy and kind consideration. They have lost everything, nearly, they had in the world. Mobile was the last great city in the South to succumb. The Confederate Government was a de facto government, and as such, Mobile was was within its grasp. The people had begun to forget that there ever was such a thing as the American flag, and they were actually bewildered when the Federal troops marched through their streets, upon discovering that they were men like themselves. Again, the terrible explosion which took place here last Spring, threw fifteen squares of the finest structures in the city into a huge pile of bricks and mortar. The repudiation of several millions of State and Confederate debt, almost wholly affected Mobile. Taking all these things into consideration, it is no wonder that the people are a little sore. But the people say they are bound to act, if they do not feel, as good citizens of the United States. I attended a supper given by Mr. Gaye to about fifty of the most prominent Southern Alabamians, a few nights ago, and the three regular toasts were "The President of the United States," "The Union," and "His Excellency Gov. Parsons." I thought this looked well, and it had more weight with me than anything else I have lately seen. There are a great many loafers and gamblers in Mobile, just as there are in other large cities, who were never in the army, but who are violently opposed to the "Yankees." These fellows go home with a black eye, though, occasionally.

There are two great excitements at present rife in Mobile. The first is the closing up of the Episcopal churches, which gives great satisfaction to the military, and to the little batch of Unionists which you will find in all the Southern cities. Further I need not say on this subject, as I sent you the circular a month ago, and your readers are acquainted with the particulars. These Southern ministers are great old hypocrites, I can assure you; I have no sympathy for them at all, and I hope the President will not revoke Gen. Wood's order. Let these old salaried divines lay off for a while until funds get scarce, and they will creep back to their pulpits, and pray for the President, "or any other man," if they only get well paid for it. I only mean this for traitors; an upright and honest minister of the Gospel I respect above all other men, and I go to church every Sunday—if I feel like it.

The other excitement is the trial of cotton thieves, which is going on under Col. Hunter Brooke. It seems that for the past four months, nearly all of the treasury agents in Alabama, who were sent out to look up and take care of government cotton, have been busy filling their own pockets, and at present there are some two million dollars' worth of cotton unaccounted for. It is known that one vessel load went to France, and the agent with it, consisting of two thousand bales of the raw material.

The modus operandi of obtaining the cotton is as follows: The agent finds a lot of cotton known as (Confederate) government cotton, and hunts up the former owner, and makes a bargain with him to give him $50 (or less) a bale; he (the former owner) to swear that the cotton was his own, and had never been turned over to the Confederate authorities. The planter bites, and the agent ships the cotton, and makes a clean hundred dollars upon every bale. Col. Hunter Brooke, the Provost-Marshal-General of Alabama, and by the way, one of the sharpest Judge-Advocates in the army, got an inkling of this thing, made a visit to Selma, the headquarters of the cotton thieves, and made a grab. He is now trying a man named Carver, a former minister of the gospel in Mobile, who received his appointment from Mr. Dexter upon the grounds that it would be dangerous for Northern men to hunt up the cotton. There are several planters here who have been witnesses of these things, and who allege that Mr. Carver has made a large amount of money by defrauding the government as above-mentioned.

Beside cotton thieves, there is evidently an association of cotton burners about, as there have been two or three incendiary fires of late, and several suspicious persons have been arrested in the neighborhood of both government and private storehouses. A few nights ago there were two large fires, in which nearly two million dollars' worth of cotton was destroyed. Fortunately, none of it belonged to the government.

The Fifteenth United States Infantry are at Mobile, and are encamped on Government-street. This regiment has been in seventeen battles, and has lost during the war its full complement of officers and men. Two companies have just arrived from Newport, R. I., which increases the two battalions to fourteen companies, or nearly one thousand men. The duties of the regiment are very onerous just at present, both officers and men being engaged every other day. It takes fully one company to guard the government cotton. Lieut.-Col. Dauson, who was severely wounded at Chickamauga, is in command, and Majs. Wilkins and Fulmer are in command of the two battalions.

On the 12th instant, Lieut. Geo. H. Burns, of the Fifteenth Infantry, died in camp of apoplexy. This is the first case of an officer dying in camp during the history of the regiment. He belonged in Philadelphia, where his mother and friends reside. During his illness the most marked attention was paid him by his brother officers, and most particularly by Surgeon Harvey, Majs. Wilkins and Keteltas and Capts. Wikoff, Occleston and others. Lieut. Burns was on the Arctic when it went down, and furnished the detailed account of the disaster for the New-York papers. He particularly distinguished himself at the battle of Stone River, and was always considered one of the most gallant officers in the Western army.

Several promotions have taken place lately in the Fifteenth. First Lieut. Occleston, of Providence, R. I., has been made a Captain, and Second Lieut. Corliss, of the same State, has been promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant.

There are three daily papers in Mobile—the Tribune, Times, and Register & Advertiser. The Tribune is the organ of the Secessionists; the Times is supposed to be the Union paper, and Mr. Forsyth's paper, the Register & Advertiser, is the Conservative sheet. None of these journals are afflicted with patriotism, however.

Speaking of newspapers, there was a duel a few days ago between an editor and an ex-Confederate Colonel. The editor was Mr. E. O. Hale, of the Times, and the ex-Colonel was Chas. Forsyth, son of Hon. Jno. Forsyth. While Charley was doing battle for the Confederacy, a dashing young Cuban, named La Vega, was doing the handsome for Charley's wife, who was very pretty, but very chaste. When the Confederacy's bottom fell out, Charley went home, and heard some very naughty stories about the dashing young Cuban and his pretty young wife. In fact, some villainous Iago touched strongly on the handkerchief dodge, and urged Charley to believe that "he'd rather be a dog, and feed upon the noisome vapors of a dungeon, than to keep a corner," &c. In other words, Charley believed that an intimacy existed between the dashing young Cuban and his pretty young wife not countenanced by law, and he got infuriated—he got awfully infuriated—why, he got so infuriated that he purchased a knife—a great big knife—and he rushed around after the dashing young Cuban, whom he thought had been on too intimate terms with his pretty young wife, and found him at the theatre. He [illegible] the supposed spoiler of his domestic felicity; he made a cat-like bound, and came very near cutting his victim's nose off.

Mr. Hale, in a paragraph, the next day, characterized the performance of Charley as contemptible, and unbecoming a high-toned Southern gentleman. Charley again got in a rage, and in his choler attempted to collar Hale. In the columns of his father's newspaper he called Hale a liar, a thief and a coward; but he found that the editor was a Hale fellow well met, for the latter sent a challenge—this is the style of high-toned Southern gentlemen. Forsyth accepted, and named as weapons double-barreled shot-guns, with sixteen buck shot in each gun—this is the style of high-toned Southern gentlemen. Both circulated the facts that they were going to fight, and of course were arrested and put under bonds of five hundred dollars each to keep the peace. Both parties were accused by their friends of letting the cat out of the bag—they rallied their courage—this is the style of high-toned Southern gentlemen—and proceeded to the Magnolia Park, and fired at each other from the hip at forty paces. Of course, neither of them were hurt—neither of them could have hit a barn—their wounds were healed, they shook hands, resurrected their friendship, started for Mobile, arrived at Mobile, and drowned their sorrows in the flowing bowl—for this is the style of high-toned Southern gentlemen.

I did intend to say a word or two about Blakely, which is up the river from Mobile about twelve miles. The last great battle of the war took place here—a description of which I furnished for the Times last April. Otherwise Blakely is of no earthly account.

RECONSTRUCTION.

GEORGIA STATE CONVENTION.

Dispatch to the President—The Ordinance of Secession Repealed.

Washington, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The following telegram was received to-night:

Milledgeville, Oct. 31, 1865.

His Excellency Andrew Johnson:

All going on well. The convention has passed the following ordinance:

An ordinance to repeal certain ordinances and resolutions therein mentioned heretofore passed by the people of the State of Georgia in convention.

We, the people of the State of Georgia, in convention at our seat of government, do declare and ordain, that the ordinance adopted by the same people in convention, on the 19th day of January, A. D., 1861, entitled "An Ordinance to Dissolve the Union between the State of Georgia and other States united with her, under a compact of government entitled the United States of America," also an ordinance adopted by the same on the 16th day of March, in the year last aforesaid, entitled an ordinance to adopt and ratify the Constitution of the Confederate States of America, and also all ordinances and resolutions of the same, adopted between the 16th day of January and the 24th day of March of the same year aforesaid, subversive or antagonistic to the civil and military authorities of the Government of the United States of America, under the constitution thereof, be and the same are hereby repealed.

(Signed) HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON, President.

Appearance of Atlanta—The Hotels—The State Convention—The Cotton Question—Miscellaneous.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Atlanta, Ga., Friday, Oct. 20, 1865.

To those who saw this city in November of last year, after the passage of Sherman's army, its present aspect affords a remarkable evidence of the reconstructing power of peace. A little less than a year ago, from one of the largest, most busy, and most thriving towns in the State, it was reduced in a day to a heap of ruins. With the exception of one or two churches, the Masonic Hall and a few scattered dwellings, everything was burned. The impartial observer, looking at this complete devastation, was compelled to ask what strategy, what military necessity, demanded such a sacrifice. A few starving dogs and cats were the sole inhabitants of the once prosperous commercial city. From the ashes another city has sprung into existence; equally large and equally populous, and though the traces of the ruin are still distinctly visible in the heaps of bricks and charred timber which in many places encumber the streets, they are fast disappearing before the activity and enterprise of the present population. The change is really astonishing. Stores and warehouses and comfortable dwellings seem to spring out of the ground, filled with goods of every description, from a cotton bale to a paper of needles, as if by a "touch of the enchanter's wand." The Misses MacFlimsey now consult Mme. Mantalini as to the latest change in the waterfall and the newest monstrosity in fashionable head-gear, where a few months ago batteries of heavy guns "the immortal Jove's dread clamor" counterfeited. The tables of the money-changers are now spread where battalions of infantry "lay in the trenches," and plows and reaping hooks are now bought where it appears but a short time since it was the highest prudence "to dodge the shells." The bustle and activity of peace are (excuse the paradox) scarcely less in degree than those of war, though of a very different kind, and the number of persons who daily come and go vastly greater, notwithstanding Ex-Gov. Brown's vaunted efforts to swell the ranks of the militia by taking the field in person.

Along the whole route from Lovejoy's, on the Macon and Western Railroad, to Atlanta, the fortifications and rifle-pits of the contending armies still remain, and enable the traveler to trace their movements, how the one fell back and the other advanced. Indeed, the same traces exist along the entire line from Atlanta to Chattanooga, presenting a monumental history of one of the most memorable and hardly contested struggles on record.

In one respect, and that very material to the hungry, thirsty and weary traveler, Atlanta is inferior to most places of equal importance. Her hotels and places of "entertainment for man and beast," as the English sign painters denote taverns, are far below mediocrity. A cautious friend of mine recently obcently observed, in relation to them, "They might be a great deal better; they could scarcely be much worse." But they make up in quantity for what they lack in quality—not the hotels, (for there is only one,) but the places of entertainment aforesaid. On the arrival of a train the din of sable "toots" for the various lodging-houses is deafening, and their mode of impressing on the voyager's mind the merits of their respective houses, far from agreeable. Large crowds of apparently unemployed freedmen and women are to be seen in every direction, and from the eagerness with which they solicit the favor of carrying a carpet-bag or valise for a dime, it may be reasonably argued that they are not prosperous. The agents of the Freedmen's Bureau are endeavoring, however, to remedy this by forcing those who have no regular work, and have no means of subsistence, to find employment, or go to the country and accept places of labor.

The original rise and growth of Atlanta, and her recent resurrection in more than her former proportions, with no apparent limit to her advance, furnish remarkable proof of the mere chance to which large cities owe their origin.

Three hundred miles from the coast, in a poor and unproductive country, not in the vicinity of any navigable stream, a large, and, from the first, thriving city grew up in the midst of the piney woods, less than twenty-five years ago. It now bids fair to be the largest city in the State, and at no distant day to be second only to New-Orleans in population and commercial wealth. It is a strange fact, in connection with the history, that John C. Calhoun, while a large portion of the present site of Atlanta was a pine thicket, pointed it out as the metropolis of the Southern Confederacy.

The members of the convention are everywhere sprucing up for their journey to Milledgeville, where they meet on Wednesday, the 25th inst. The only question which they will have to consider on which there is any likelihood of controversy is the war debt of the State, or, more properly, the debt incurred by the State during the war. The capitalists who have bought up and now hold the bonds and treasury notes have their friends, who argue fervently on the justice and equity of redeeming "every dollar in greenbacks." Others think that justice and equity do not require more than that they should be redeemed at their gold value at the date of their issue, and that it would neither be just or equitable to tax the people to pay $7 a yard for coarse cotton goods, $9 per pound for bacon, $40 a bushel for corn, $500 a barrel for flour, &c., sold to the State for these bonds and notes. Others call loudly for wholesale extinction of the debt after the manner of Alabama. It is understood that Ex-Gov. Joseph E. Brown is the leading champion of the dollar for dollar redemption, and wherever you meet a capitalist with a trunk full of Georgia treasury notes, for which he paid from two to five cents on the dollar, there you meet a man who tells you that "Joe. Brown is bound to be the next Governor." He has more influence with President Johnson than any other ten men in Georgia. "He has been approached on the subject of entering the Cabinet." Mr. Brown is certainly pulling the wires actively for election, and he has many earnest friends, thankful for rich favors and potent exemptions from military service, who desire to see him again writing messages and devising schemes for relieving the poor. The general belief, however, still is that Judge Jenkins will be the candidate of the convention, and if he is, that he will be elected to a certainty. The only doubt is whether he will consent to incur the labors and turmoil of a contest, though he may be willing to serve, if the people so desire.

The cotton fever still rages, and even calm business men predict that there is no safer investment than cotton bales at 40 cents per pound. Every one who has land is going to plant all he can in the great staple. Men are buying land for this express purpose, and now that there are no politics to discuss, cotton is the subject most talked of, with the exception, perhaps, of pardons, and what the freedmen will do at Christmas.

Provisions are lamentably dear for those to whom greenbacks are like angels' visits, and the prospect is that they will yet, as the market reporters say, "reach higher figures." Twenty dollars per barrel for flour, 40 cents per pound for bacon, 15 cents per pound for beef and $1 25 per bushel for corn meal are the retail prices in many portions of the State, and the consequence is that those with small incomes, and that larger class, those who have none at all, are contemplating half rations as a very probable contingency, and quarter rations as a not remote possibility. Clothes of every description are proportionately expensive, $100 being the price of an ordinary suit of broadcloth, and $16 that of a pair of boots. The naughtiness of Eve and the credulity of Adam, together with "the fruit of that forbidden tree, whose mortal taste brought death into the world and all our woe," are thus forcibly and practically brought to the recollection, especially as Winter is coming and the leaves are falling rapidly.

FLORIDA.

Letter From Secretary Seward—Progress of Reorganization in the State.

Washington, Wednesday, Nov. 1, 1865.

The following has been addressed to His Excellency William Marvin, Provisional Governor of Florida, at Tallahassee:

Your letter of Oct. 7 was received and submitted to the President. He is gratified with the favorable progress toward reorganization in Florida, and directs me to say that he regards the ratification by the Legislature of the Congressional amendment of the constitution of the United States as indispensable to a successful restoration of the true loyal relations between Florida and the other States, and equally indispensable to the return of peace and harmony throughout the republic.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

ARKANSAS.

Reorganization in the State—The New State Government in Full Operation.

STATEMENT OF HON. E. W. GANTT.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31, 1865.

The reorganization in Arkansas has progressed quietly and is a success.

In the Fall of 1863, the first meetings were held looking to a State Convention. In February, 1864, a convention was holden. It adopted a State Constitution abolishing slavery, repudiating the Confederate debt, and nullifying all the acts done by the Confederate authorities, except marriage certificates, acknowledgement of deeds, and a few other minor things. It proceeded to organize a provisional government by the appointment of Hon. Isaac Murphy Governor, empowering him to order an election for a permanent government, and requiring him to submit to the people the constitution for approval or rejection. The election was so ordered and a permanent government established, with his Excellency Isaac Murphy as Governor. The constitution as amended was adopted by a vote, in round numbers, of 12,000 for and 200 against it. The vote cast was near one-half the estimated voting population of the State, a little less than one-fourth of the vote of 1860, and but a few hundred less, if not equal, to the entire vote cast for secession in 1861.

This organization was of the people, and spontaneous. It has been erroneously supposed that the Executive or the military controlled it. I know personally to the contrary. Advocating, in the Fall of 1863 and the Winter of 1864, the holding of a convention and the amendment of our constitution abolishing slavery, for reasons stated in various speeches and letters, I had an opportunity to know much that was done. As the then commander of the department, a brave and accomplished soldier, opposed our views on this point, it was deemed expedient by the friends of the measure that I should go to Washington and see what influences could be brought to bear upon Gen. Steele to induce him to favor our plans, he expressing his entire willingness to do what the President desired in the premises. Before leaving, there was a general understanding that if the convention were full, it should proceed to work and do what was necessary. If not full, it should order an election for a convention to be holden at some future designated day. Before reaching Washington, I was overtaken by a prominent citizen of the State, who, leaving after I did, assured me that the convention would not be held. Arriving at Washington, we visited Mr. Lincoln together, and he submitted to us his plan of reorganization, whereby an election was ordered for the 28th March, 1864. In the meantime, advices reached me from home, informing me of the meeting and action of the convention, among which was its order for an election on the 14th of March. I called at once on President Lincoln, made a full explanation, and urged the consolidation of the two plans. He cheerfully complied, and wrote by me a letter to Gen. Steele to that effect. So the election was holden on the day and in the manner prescribed by the convention, and met the full approval of President Lincoln.

The new State government was thus inaugurated. Since then it has gained strength steadily. Weak at first, and without a dollar to commence with, its indefatigable officers, aided by the well-timed and prudent counsel and assistance of Gen. Reynolds, have succeeded in administering its affairs until the opposing Confederate authorities, from Governor down, acknowledge its supremacy, and until every county in the State is as thoroughly organized as before the war.

We have, fortunately, had few dissensions in our midst, and if the people are not disturbed by disappointed and ambitious office-seekers, apprehend little in the future. The utmost quiet prevails in our midst. A citizen of any portion of the United States can travel unattended throughout our entire borders. Courts are being held in all the counties. Estates are being administered and important rights adjudicated. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are in train of collection; property is being bought and sold under execution; marriages are being solemnized, and other contracts entered into upon the faith of the permanence of our State Government. In a word, every act which a State in perfect vigor can do is now being done, and the dawn of returning prosperity breaks upon us.

It is desired especially that the attention of the public be called to the fact that three important questions have been settled in our State: First, the inserting of a clause in our State Constitution forever prohibiting slavery; second the repudiation of the Confederate debt; and, in the third place, the prompt ratification by our Legislature of the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery. They are adopted as just principles by a portion of our people, while a large portion of the residue acquiesce in them as points legitimately settled by the war.

That some mistakes were made in returns, that too much was done in some things, and too little in others, may be true, but fortunately these are all within the reach of the courts and the Legislature.

Such is briefly our State government, which relies upon the President and Congress and the country for recognition, and which, if torn down and rebuilt forty times, must at last be substantially just what it is.

Yours, truly,
E. W. GANTT.

Gen. Gantt also incloses the following official dispatches and documents from President Johnson, Secretary White and Maj.-Gen. Reynolds. They will be read with great interest.

DISPATCH FROM PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

Executive Office, Washington, D. C., Oct. 30, 1865.

To Gov. Murphy, Little Rock, Ark.:

There will be no interference with your present organization of State Government. I have learned from E. W. Gantt, Esq., and other sources, that all is working well, and you will proceed and resume the former relations with the Federal Government, and all the aid in the power of the government will be given in restoring the State to its former relations.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
President of the United States.

LETTER FROM MAJ.-GEN. REYNOLDS.

Headquarters Department of Arkansas, }
Little Rock, Oct. 12, 1865. }

Hon. E. W. Gantt:

Sir: In answer to your verbal inquiry concerning the present condition of civil government in the State of Arkansas, I have to say concisely that, at the time of the surrender of the Confederate forces in this department, more than half the State of Arkansas was under our actual control. Gov. Flannigan (Confederate) proposed that the county officers acting under him should be continued in office under Gov. Murphy, Flannigan retiring. This proposition was rejected, and the whole rebel State Government in all its parts ignored. There was then, as there is now, in Arkansas, a loyal State Government, recognized by, and organized under, the express sanction of the President of the United States. This State Government was quietly but industriously and successfully extending its rule over the State; and, at the present day, civil government is actually in operation throughout the entire State, excepting, perhaps, one county, with which communication is difficult.

I have ordered officers of the army to visit each county and State. The reports of these officers have been nearly all received; they all confirm the statement that civil government is already reëstablished throughout the State, and that, as a general remark, the State of Arkansas has never enjoyed more quiet than at the present time. There is not a shadow of conflict between the civil and military authority; the latter sustains the former, and is careful not to usurp any of its functions. I have made it a point to converse with gentlemen from every part of the State; they universally admit the successful and prompt restoration of civil law in the State. The only dissatisfaction existing prevails among a portion of returned Confederate officers and noncombatants. The returned soldiers, of both sides, are, as a rule, quiet and orderly, and disposed to return to peaceful pursuits.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
J. J. REYNOLDS, Major-General.

OPERATION OF THE STATE GOVERNMENT—SECRETARY WHITE'S CERTIFICATE.

State of Kansas, }
Office of Secretary of State. }

I, Robert J. T. White, Secretary of State of the State of Arkansas, do hereby certify that the State Government of the said State is in full and successful operation; that the civil organization of all the counties of the State has taken place; that county, probate and circuit courts have been held in all the counties except Fulton, and that this county has lately been fully organized, and that in it courts can now be held without hindrance or molestation; that the people generally are disposed to be obedient to law, and are attending to their personal concerns; that to some extent, however, disturbance is being created by some of the old and influential citizens of the State, who were active participants in the rebellion, in advising disregard of a disfranchising law, that prohibits from voting all persons who have aided or abbetted the rebellion since the 18th day of April, A. D. 1864; and that as soon as they can be prepared, complete lists of the civil officers of the State will be forwarded to the President of the United States.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused my official seal to be heretofore affixed.

Done at the City of Little Rock this thirteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and of the independence of the United States the ninetieth.

[SEAL.]

Defeat of the Liberals Before Matamoras—They Lose Five Hundred Killed and Wounded.

New-Orleans, Monday, Oct. 30.

The fight between the Liberals around Matamoras, and the Imperialists, commenced on the 25th inst., and lasted three hours.

The Liberals were successful at first, gaining a portion of the works around the place, but they were subsequently regained by the Imperialists.

The Liberals were roughly handled and put to flight, closely pursued by the Imperialists.

Brownsville reports say that the Liberals lost 500 killed and wounded, and that the Imperial loss was several wounded and less than a dozen killed.

One Liberal General was killed.

Great Rise in the Lake of Texcuco—The City of Mexico Endangered—The Puebla Railroad—Railroad Train Captured by Robbers—Miscellaneous Intelligence.

City of Mexico papers to Oct. 20 have been received.

The Lake of Texcuco, immediately adjoining the City of Mexico, was on the 5th of October within one inch of being on a level with the City of Mexico. If the rains had continued a few hours longer, great destruction of property would have resulted.

Maximilian and the Empress would leave on a visit to Yucatan on the 5th of November.

The railroad between Puebla and the City of Mexico will be completed by the 1st of May, 1866. Over 4,000 laborers are employed on the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico.

Subscriptions were to be opened throughout the empire for the relief of those rendered destitute by the inundations of the past rainy season. The Empress heads the list with $2,000.

A convoy from Guanajuato had arrived at Mexico with $900,000 in silver.

A curious phenomenon occurred in the Valley of Mexico, Oct. 6. Five large streams of water burst suddenly from a mountain, which, if they do not diminish in volume, will form a considerable river.

An ex-rebel named Mitchell had rented a plantation in the State of San Luis Potosi, and would plant 5,000 acres in cotton next season.

A railroad train had been plundered and robbed not far from Vera Cruz, and an officer and nine men of the Foreign Legation were captured. It was said that Marshal Bazaine would dispatch a powerful force to put an end to these outrages.

Three hundred of Figuero's band are said to have been routed by citizen soldiers of Oajaca, near that place, Oct. 4, killing 37 and capturing 68 prisoners.

Seventy-eight of the Austrian Hussars charged 400 of Figuero's band on the 22d ult., and routed them. The loss of the latter was 50 killed and wounded.

Another account reports the Eastern frontier of the City of Mexico submerged, and that there is danger of the total overflow of the city.

Funeral Obsequies of Col. Ulric Dahlgren,

Philadelphia, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The remains of Col. Ulric Dahlgren laid in state, in Independence Hall, during the night, and the funeral services took place this morning.

Rev. J. P. Wilson, D. D., of Newark, N. J., delivered an impressive sermon, and the remains were then removed from the Hall to Laurel Hill, escorted by six companies of the Seventh Regiment of the First Army Corps, two companies of Marines and city troops, which acted as a guard of honor.

Among the distinguished mourners were Admiral Dahlgren, Gens. Meade and Humphreys and Mayor Henry.

Masonic.

Rockland, Me., Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The statue of Major-Gen. Hiram G. Berry was erected to-day by the Masonic fraternity. The weather was auspicious, and the ceremonies imposing. Total	$2,454,327 54

Commissioner Miller reported

PRODIGAL EXPENDITURES

by the School Trustees of the Seventh Ward, and the board passed a resolution censuring those officers for lavish outlay upon their school buildings; but nevertheless an appropriation of $700 for repairs to school edifices in that ward was passed without a dissenting voice. After making other appropriations and electing Miss Mary McLean Vice-Principal of the Female Department of Grammar School No. 21, in the Fourteenth Ward, the board received the Fourteenth Annual Report of the Faculty of the Free Academy, ordered the evening schools closed on the night of the election, and adjourned.

The Fire Department.

ORGANIZATION OF ANOTHER NEW COMPANY—RELIEF FROM DUTY OF THE REMAINING COMPANIES OF THE VOLUNTEER DEPARTMENT.

The Board of Commissioners held their regular meeting yesterday afternoon, at Firemen's Hall. Present—Messrs. Pinckney, Engs, Brown and Abbe.

The board organized a new engine company, to be known as Metropolitan Engine Company No. 33, located at No. 220 Mercer-street, Henry M. Vanwort, foreman.

On motion, it was resolved to relieve from active duty the following companies: Engines Nos. 4, 16, 17, 28, 47. Hose Nos. 26, 1, 11, 12, 14, 33, 38. Hook and Ladder No. 3. The members to receive their discharges on the 20th inst. These companies were all that remained in service, and now the entire Volunteer Fire Department is disbanded, and the new Paid Department assume full and absolute control of the city.

The board resolved to create three Assistant Engineers for Harlem, Yorkville, Manhattanville, Bloomingdale, Carmansville and vicinity, each to receive $400 per annum.

Assistant Engineers G. H. E. Lynch, Michael Halloran and Abraham Howe, of the Volunteer Department, were relieved from duty, and a resolution of thanks tendered those gentlemen by the board for their services.

Messrs. Michael Halloran, Abraham Howe and John Hunt, were then appointed to fill the positions of suburban engineers.

On motion of Commissioner Abbe the following was adopted:

Whereas, Malicious and evil-disposed persons have, since the organization of the Metropolitan Fire Department, committed certain wanton acts upon the property of the City of New-York, under the charge and control of this board, by the cutting of hose while at fires, attempting to disable engines, &c.; therefore,

Resolved, That in order to secure the ends of justice, protect the city from disastrous conflagrations and promote good order, this board offer a reward of $500 for the apprehension and conviction of any or all persons who have been, or shall hereafter be, detected in such unlawful, malicious and cowardly acts—the reward to be paid in each instance after conviction, on a certificate of the District-Attorney, or of the Judge before whom the conviction was had, that in his opinion the person applying for said reward is justly and legally entitled to the same, but all claim to the payment of such reward shall be deemed forfeited if such certificate shall not be presented to this board within thirty days after conviction; and all claims for such reward presented after the expiration of such period of time be disregarded.

Commissioner Engs spoke of the fact that now the old Volunteer Department of New-York had ceased to exist, he was sorry that no resolution had been offered, thanking the members of said department who had continued in active service.

Commissioner Abbe said the hurry and press of business, it being pay day, had prevented the Committee on Appointments and Discipline from presenting such a paper. He therefore moved that Commissioner Engs be requested to draw up such a resolution, which express in fitting terms the thanks of the board, and evidence the service performed by the old department during the transition. His motion was adopted, and the board then adjourned to Friday at 3 P. M.

Departure of the English Capitalists.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Sir Morton Peto, Mr. McHenry and party departed for Liverpool in the steamship Scotia. At 11 o'clock a luncheon was partaken of at the Clarendon Hotel, where a large number of their friends had assembled. Mr. L'Hommedieu expressed on behalf of those present the gratification felt at the presence of their British guests and the regret caused by their departure.

Sir Morton Peto and Mr. McHenry thanked their friends for the kindness and attention received at their hands, and assured them that they would never be forgotten. After Sir Morton's remarks, one of the ladies in the dining-hall rose and presented miniature American flags to all present, the Englishmen placing them conspicuously in their button-holes. About 2:30 P. M. the party left in carriages for the pier at the foot of Thirteenth-street, where a tugboat was in waiting to convey them to the Scotia.

Among those who embarked on the steamer to bid Sir Morton and his friends farewell were Major-Gen. Hooker, Hon. Robert J. Walker, A. T. Stewart, Cyrus W. Field, Mr. Larned, Mr. J. N. Thompson, Mr. Stitter, of Philadelphia, Mr. Bierstadt, the artist, Mr. Harbicht, Mayor Rowan, Mr. C. De Forest, Capt. Comstock, Mr. Chas. E. E. Blakesley and others.

On the previous evening, Sir Morton entertained about forty of the leading Baptist divines of this city and Brooklyn at a banquet at the Clarendon Hotel. Among the clergy present were Rev. Drs. Armitage, Holmes, Dowling, Sommers, Bright, Church, Weston and Westcott. At the close of the banquet remarks were made by Drs. Weston, Armitage and Holmes, to which Sir Morton responded.

Max Maretzek and the Mercury.

Mr. Maretzek has brought nine criminal prosecutions for libel against Messrs. Cauldwell & Whitney, of the Sunday Mercury, besides his two civil suits against them. This quarrel first broke out two years ago, with a series of articles in the Mercury. About October, 1863, Mr. Maretzek brought a civil suit for damages. The articles continued, and in February ensuing he brought another. On this the articles ceased for the time. When the recent disagreement between Mr. Maretzek and the Herald broke out, the Mercury began a new series of articles, on which Mr. Maretzek brought his nine new actions, choosing prosecutions this time by way of variety. In these actions warrants were taken out yesterday.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

Reopening of the Driggs' United States Warehouses.—It will be remembered that the immense United States Bonded Warehouses of Messrs. M. S. Driggs & Co., were destroyed by fire in April last. They have been rebuilt with great care, and were opened to public inspection yesterday. The fire by which the stores were destroyed, originated in the cooperage factory opposite, the intense heat from which burst the shutters on the bonded stores from the fastenings. To guard against this in future double iron shutters have been added, separated by an air-chamber of 20 inches; the inside shutter, being suspended on rollers, can only be opened by sliding. Messrs. Driggs have introduced, as an additional protection, a duplex steam fire engine of great power and capacity—built by the Woodward Steam Pump Manufacturing Company—throwing four 1½-inch streams simultaneously, or 2,500 gallons of water per minute. The water is carried to the Water-street front through a 4-inch iron pipe, so as to prevent any damage by water to goods in store in case of a fire in the rear. The steam boiler is placed in a separate and thoroughly fire-proof compartment, built under the supervision and direction of the Rate Committee of the Board of Underwriters. It would be difficult to suggest any additional precautions, and the enterprise commends itself to the patronage of the public.

The Balloon Ascension and Return.—Agreeably to announcement, the weather being fine, the detached ascension of Prof. Lowe's war balloon took place yesterday afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock. The attendance of visitors was good, and the affair passed off pleasantly. As usual with the ascensions of Prof. Lowe, yesterday's was a very fine one. There being no breeze, the aerial ship rose equally and slowly above the city, and poised itself in mid-air almost vertically over the platform until it reached the height of half a mile. Striking a slight current, the balloon slowly, yet steadily, drifted off toward New-Jersey. The Professor was accompanied by Ex-Councilman Van Tine and Mr. Joseph Bedell, of Flushing, Long Island. We learn from the Professor that, after crossing the North River and throwing out ballast, the balloon ascended into an upper current, reaching an altitude of 1½ miles, when it was borne toward the east, passing over the East River. It then descended into a lower current, and finally landed at the corner of Fifty-seventh-street and Third-avenue. Without letting out gas, the balloon with its freight was towed back to the inclosure, and afterward made several attached ascensions.

An Appeal.—On the 14th or 15th of this month, the steamer Continental will leave this port with between seven and eight hundred women passengers, who expect to find employment in Washington Territory, whither the steamer sails. The vessel is an excellent one, and the project, novel and eccentric in some respects, is in good hands. Several hundred of the ladies are furnished free passage, while those who are able pay their own way. We learn that the fare provided will be of the simplest character, and it has occurred to several benevolent people interested in the movement, that it would be well to ask the thoughtful attention of our citizens to the fact, that the voyage will necessarily take some three or four months, during which time something more palatable than crackers and beef would be very acceptable. We are requested to state that donations of dried or can fruit, condensed milk, apples, oranges, lemons, tea, sugar, &c., would be most gratefully received, and may be sent to the care of Mr. Mercer, No. 91 West-street, of this city.

The New Gold Certificates.—The Secretary of the Treasury has informed the Assistant Treasurer at New-York, that the new gold certificates of the denominations of one hundred and one thousand dollars, will be sent to this city in the beginning of next week. Notes of the five-thousand-dollar denomination have been received here, as already reported. The twenty-dollar, fifty-dollar and five-hundred-dollar notes may not be ready for some time to come. It is the intention of Mr. Van Dyck to begin the issue of the certificates to depositors next week.

Meeting in the Sixth Senatorial District.—A very enthusiastic and interesting meeting was held last evening at the Bleecker Buildings, the Republicans of the Sixth Senatorial and Seventh Assembly Districts, gathering there in large numbers to ratify the State ticket and the nominations of Abram Lent for Senator, and Thos. E. Stewart for Assembly. The speakers were in good humor, and with a good cause could not and did not fail to arouse enthusiasm and interest in the audience.

Republican German Club.—This able, hard-working organization held a meeting last evening at Miller's Building, No. 101 West Thirty-seventh-street for the purpose of ratifying the Syracuse nominations, and more particularly of Hon. A. J. Dittenhoefer, for Judge of the Marine Court. Dr. Majer, W. Van Gensisbach, and others, made eloquent speeches, and the constant exertions of the club were pledged to secure the success of the ticket.

LAW REPORTS.

United States Circuit Court.

Before Judge Nelson.

INSOLVENT PROCEEDINGS—DEBT TO NON-RESIDENT NOT DISCHARGED.

Lewis Worthington et al. vs. Leonard W. Jerome.—This was an action against the defendant on a judgment. The defendant set up an insolvent's discharge, and the plaintiffs demurred.

Nelson, C. J.—The plaintiffs, who are citizens of Ohio, recovered a judgment against the defendant in the Superior Court of this city in 1851, for the sum of $1,147 05. In 1855 the defendant obtained the benefit of the Insolvent Act of the State of New-York, the discharge under which is now set up as a bar to this action on the judgment. The plaintiffs were citizens and residents of Ohio at the time of the insolvent proceedings, and took no part in them. It has been repeatedly held, in the Supreme Court of the United States, and as late as the case of Baldwin vs. Hale, (1 Wallace, 223,) that a discharge under the State Insolvent Law does not affect the obligations of the debtor to foreign creditors, to which character the plaintiffs belong, being residents of the State of Ohio, unless they make themselves parties to the insolvent proceedings. This seems to be conceded by the counsel for the defendant; but, it is supposed, the circumstance that the indebtedness having passed into a judgment before these proceedings, takes the case out of the principle. We think not. The insolvent Court acquired no jurisdiction over the plaintiffs, or over any indebtedness, whether resting in judgment or in contract, due to them by the debtor. The discharge was coram non judice as to the foreign creditor, and would have been so, even if the indebtedness rested on contract payable at a place within the State in which the insolvent proceedings took place.

Judgment or the plaintiffs on demurrer.

For plaintiffs, Mr. Hill; for defendant, Mr. Anthon.

LOSS OF CARGO—WEIGHT OF EVIDENCE—APPEAL IN ADMIRALTY.

The Hoboken Land and Improvement Company vs. The Lighter or Vessel Sunswick, J. H. Hedenberg, claimant.—Nelson, C. J.—The libel is filed in this case to recover damages for the non-delivery of a quantity of railroad iron, in pursuance of a contract on freight, at a point on the Hackensack River, where a new bridge was being constructed. The iron was taken from Wetmore's Dock, in Brooklyn. The lighter capsized with the iron on board, as she was entering the Kills, and hence failed to be delivered.

The main point in the defence is, that there was no contract of affreightment made on behalf of the vessel, but, on the contrary, that it was a contract of hire by the libelants of the vessel and crew, to be navigated by them, and on their own responsibility. The contract was made between Hedenberg, the owner and claimant, and an agent of the libelants. Both were examined before the court below, the one sustaining by his testimony the contract for freight in the usual way, and the other the hiring of vessel and crew, to be under the exclusive control and pilotage of the agent of libelants. There are some corroborating facts and circumstances tending to support each of these conflicting views of the transaction. All the witnesses were examined before the court, and, as the case turns very much upon the weight to be given to the witnesses, and the question is simply one of fact, we would not disturb the finding even if we differed with the court. But we are inclined to think, on the proofs, as they appear on paper, that the finding was according to the weight of the testimony and attending circumstances, and must, therefore, affirm the decree.

A point is made upon the damages. The iron cost $2,050. The libelants, after notifying the claimant that they would hold him responsible for it, and that if he did not get it up and deliver it, they would do so at his expense, and after his refusal raised it at an expense, according to the proofs and report of the commissioner, of $671 22, including interest, for which a decree, with costs, has been rendered. We see no valid objection to this assessment; the items appear fair and reasonable, and make up the loss the libelants have sustained by the non-delivery of the iron under the contract.

Decree affirmed.

For libelants and appellees, Mr. Morton; for appellant, Mr. Sanxsay.

United States District Court—Eastern District.

Before Judge Benedict.

PRACTICE, PRIORITY, PETITION AND LIBEL.

Josiah Raymond et al. vs. The Schooner George Prescott.—This was a motion to determine the priority between two parties claiming the fund in court. The libelant, Raymond, was master of the schooner, which was a British vessel, and filed his libel to recover wages, claiming a lien by virtue of the British Merchants' Shipping Act, and obtained a decree in his favor by default. Thereafter a pilot, Peter McEnany, filed a petition asking to be paid pilotage for bringing the vessel into port on her last voyage, but he took no further steps on his petition. The proceeds in court being insufficient to pay the decree of the master in full, he applied to have the whole paid to him on his decree, which was opposed by the pilot.

Benedict, J.—It is not necessary to consider on this motion to what extent the provisions of the Merchants' Shipping Act of England can be invoked against a British vessel in an American Court of Admiralty. Nor is it necessary to decide whether a claim for pilotage is or is not entitled to be paid in preference to a claim made by the master for his wages. The decision of this motion must rest upon the method of procedure adopted by the respective parties to secure payment of their claim. The master has filed a libel; has caused process to be issued against the vessel, and has entered up a decree in his favor against the vessel, which no one has attempted to disturb. The pilot has merely filed a petition; has asked for no process, and taken no steps to prove the validity of his demand or to attach the fund.

In such a case the rule laid down by the learned Judge of the Southern District of New-York applies. That experienced judge, in the case of the Triumph, (Mss., July, 1841,) decided that proceedings by petition, not having the effect of appropriating the property, will be satisfied after the claims of creditors who have attached the property are paid. This court will not undertake to establish a different rule. The motion, therefore, must be granted, and the fund in court paid to the master upon his decree.

For libelant, Messrs. Emerson, Goodrich and Knowlton. For petitioner, Mr. Haskett.

Supreme Court—Chambers.

Before Justice Barnard.

A TROUBLED FAMILY.

In the matter of the application of Sarah Ann B. S. Packer, &c.—This was a writ of habeas corpus issued to the respondent James Packer, to produce his two children, on the petition of his wife, the relator.

The petition of Mrs. Packer charges that, while living with her husband he was uniformly unkind and brutal toward her and her children, frequently beating and ill-using them. That from his coarse and intemperate habits he is totally unfit to have the custody of children; that he associates with vile women, and that upon her recovery from a disease contracted from him he drove her from his house. That he still keeps the children, two boys, respectively of the ages of eight and six years, and refuses to allow the relator to see her children, or to inform her where they are. That her husband is now living with another woman, whom the petitioner believes has the care of the children. The petitioner further states that she has commenced proceedings for divorce, and that it is destructive to the morals and education of her children to be under the control of their father and his present companion.

The writ was returnable yesterday, and upon the return the counsel for the respondent raised the preliminary objection that it did not appear that the petitioner was a resident of the City of New-York; that she was really a resident of Kings County, where all the other parties resided, and that while there were in that county officers having the power and willing to grant the writ, it must be brought in the county of the petitioner's residence.

Counsel for the relator argued that in case where the custody of children was the object sought, this rule did not apply. At any rate, it was easy to show that the relator was a resident of this city, having come to it with the intention of remaining, on the Saturday before the writ was granted.

The court being satisfied of this fact, held the writ regularly issued, but granted a postponement to the 9th inst., when the children are to be produced.

Messrs. James & Dunphy for relator; Ex-Judge Reynolds for respondent.

A PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Wm. A. Murphy vs. Sarah A. Murphy, et als.—This suit is brought for the dissolution of a partnership which Murphy alleges to exist between himself and his wife, and he has obtained a preliminary injunction, restraining her from drawing the funds of the firm from the bank. She now moves to set aside the injunction, alleging that she owned the business before marriage, has never taken him into partnership, that he knows nothing about the business, and any purchases he may have made have been small cash ones, made without her permission. After some argument, the court took the papers and reserved its decision.

LIBEL SUIT AGAINST THE POLICE GAZETTE.

Joel W. Price vs. George W. Matsell and Wm. McKellar.—This action is for $10,000 damages, for an article in the Police Gazette, alleged to be libelous. The complaint set up the alleged libels, and, averred that they charged the plaintiff with adultery and with cruelty to his wife.

The defendants in their answer deny malice, and justify. They served an unverified answer, which was returned to them by the plaintiff's attorneys. They now move for an order compelling the plaintiff's attorneys to receive this answer, on the ground that it has been decided, no man being compelled to convict himself, that an answer in a libel suit need not be verified.

The court thought otherwise, but allowed the defendants twenty days to serve a verified answer, on filing an affidavit of merits.

ELECTION CONTEST—MANDAMUS TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

In the Matter of the Application of Richard O'Brien, &c.—At the last charter election the relator was a candidate for the Common Council and was opposed by Mr. Houghtalin. The canvassers returned Mr. Houghtalin by 354 majority, and the relator contested the seat, claiming that the true returns would show a majority of 179 for himself, and gave notice of his claim to the Common Council. They acted on it so far as to appoint a committee of three to investigate the matter and report. Since then the relator claims nothing has been done, and now asks a mandamus to compel them to proceed in their investigation.

The respondents urged that the act of 1860, under which their powers of investigating such contests are exercised, was merely permissive, and not obligatory, and that the court had no jurisdiction to grant the required order.

The court reserved its decision. McDonald and Mundy for relators. Mr. Hackett for respondents.

INJUNCTION AGAINST THE COLLECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

Bank of Savings vs. Maunsell B. Fields.—An application was made yesterday on behalf of this Savings Bank to restrain the Collector from taking any steps to collect an internal revenue tax of $20,000, assessed on the entire capital stock of the bank, which the plaintiffs claim is illegal.

The court granted the injunction.

Marine Court.

Before Judge Alker.

ASSAULT ON THE HIGH SEAS.

F. G. Baptiste vs. Thomas L. Evans.—The plaintiff, who was a sailor on board the brig John H. Kennedy, charges the Captain of that vessel with an assault, and laid his damages at $500. The Captain acted as his own counsel.

The jury, under the charge of the Judge, rendered a verdict for plaintiff, assessing his damages at $200.

Decisions.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

By Justice Moncrief.

James Breslin vs. Margaret Breslin; report of referee confirmed and judgment of divorce granted. Thomas Garner, &c., vs. William Hodges, &c.; motion granted. William Loeschigk vs. Amos F. Hatfield, &c.; motion granted and proceedings stayed, &c. Elizabeth Burtis vs. Felix McClosky; bonds, &c., approved.

COMMON PLEAS—CHAMBERS.

By Judge Cardozo.

Dodge vs. Brown; motion denied, with $10 costs, to abide event. Superintendent of Survey and Inspection of Buildings vs. The New-York Oil Company; motion granted; defendant may answer in ten days, on payment of disbursements and $10 costs, and consenting to refer, if plaintiff so elect.

SUPERIOR COURT—CHAMBERS.

By Justice Barnard.

Gabriel A. Arnoux vs. Anthony Arnoux; motion denied, with $10 costs. Henry A. Bartlett vs. Charles A. Jessup; motion denied. R. A. Cheseborough vs. Samuel Engle; motion denied. Ethan L. Watson vs. John Wood; judgment for plaintiff for amount claimed in complaint. In the matter of the application of Suskind Stern for mandamus, &c.; the weight of testimony is against the applicant, and the motion is denied. Leopold Tilman vs. Maria J. Keene; motion granted. Azariah S. Palmer vs. Frederick Humphrey's Sons; injunction modified as stated in opinion.

Wednesday, Nov. 1—P. M.

The official Custom-house returns of the Foreign Trade at the port of New-York for the month of September have been rendered. They show the following results, compared with the same month last year, to which are added the comparative figures for the first nine months of the calendar year.

The Import entries for September at New-York compare as follows with the corresponding month of the previous year, viz.:

	Sept., 1865.	Sept., 1864.
Dutiable goods direct	$16,748,595	$4,390,114
Dutiable bonded	4,936,290	5,258,568
Free goods	795,468	832,557
Total September entries	$22,480,353	$10,481,239

There was also entered during the month foreign Specie of the value of $194,224 as against $58,220 same month last year. The value of foreign Merchandise of previous importation withdrawn from Bond, is $8,042,603—or $3,106,394 more than went into Bond during the month. So that the amount of Merchandise actually marketed during the month, dutiable and free, is $25,586,747, on which the Gold Customs collected amounts to $12,929,615, or at the average rate of duty on all the marketed imports, (including free articles,) of 50½ ₱ cent. The amount marketed in September, 1864, was $12,075,000, and the Customs $4,084,492.

The comparative values of Foreign Goods entered at the port of New-York, and of Foreign Goods actually marketed for the first nine months of the calendar years 1865-4 are as follows:

	1865. Jan. 1 to Sept. 30.	1864. Jan. 1 to Sept. 30.
Total entries	$146,642,235	$187,645,000
Total marketed	$156,438,671	$153,296,679
Customs paid	71,517,158	56,370,930
Average duty	45.85 ₱ cent.	36.84 ₱ cent.

The Export clearances to Foreign ports, from New-York, for the month of September were:

	Sept., 1865.	Sept., 1864.
Domestic Produce	$12,763,484	$15,595,548
Foreign reexported	264,857	3,308,880
Gold and Silver	2,494,973	2,835,898
Total Sept. Clearances	$15,523,314	$21,739,826
Average price Gold	144 ₱ cent.	250 ₱ cent.

The Exports of all descriptions for the first nine months of the calendar year are:

	1865. Jan. 1 to Sept. 30.	1864. Jan. 1 to Sept. 30.
Domestic Produce	$107,934,357	$153,851,993
Foreign Reexports	3,513,821	15,543,583
Specie	22,689,116	34,936,661
Total	$134,137,294	$204,332,337
Average of Gold	151 ₱ cent.	198 ₱ cent.

Since the beginning of the current fiscal year, July 1, 1865, to the close of the First Quarter of the year, Sept. 30, the consumption of Foreign Goods through the port of New-York, compares as follows, as between a condition of Peace this season, and of War last season:

FOREIGN GOODS MARKETED AT NEW-YORK.

	1865. Peace.	1864. War.
July	$19,674,662	$10,684,485
August	26,401,412	15,507,970
September	25,586,747	12,075,000
Total for quarter	$71,662,821	$38,267,455
Customs in gold	35,822,581	13,907,704
Average duties	50 ₱ cent.	37 ₱ cent.

The price of Money at call to the Stock Brokers is 7 ₱ cent. There is a fair supply to meet a demand which has increased since Monday with the enlarged volume of business on the Stock Exchange. The Railway speculation, especially, is involving very heavy daily transactions, and, to a certain degree, requires a corresponding supply of money to carry forward the newly inaugurated Bull account. In Mercantile circles, the rates of discount keep steady at 7½@9 ₱ cent. discount for prime paper. The receivers of Western Produce and Southern Cotton are making less paper, their disposition tending to prompt sales on the arrival of consignments from either or both quarters.

The New-Orleans mails, this morning brought upon the market a better supply of Cotton Bills on England, and the firmness in the market was lost before the sailing of the Scotia, though the quotation on London, for standard bills, may be esteemed ¼@½ ₱ cent. higher than for last Saturday's packet, say 108¾@109 ₱ cent. Gold fell off to 145⅛ ₱ cent., to-day. Some moderate orders again appeared in the market for U. S. 5-20s, original issue, and also (from Domestic buyers) for the 5-20s of 1864 and of 1865. The last-named bonds (the result of the recent funding operation) have not yet been called at the Stock Exchange. The Wall-street dealers have been making sales, partly to arrive, at 100½ ₱ cent. The 1864s are 101⅛@101¼ ₱ cent.

The Railway movement of the Stock Exchange derives new interest to-day from the large transactions in New-York Central, the further advance to 93@93¼ in Erie, the demand at rising figures for Prairie du Chien, and the buoyancy in Northwest, of both classes, and Fort Wayne and Chicago. The last-named road is unquestionably driving a very large and profitable traffic, and the current reason is, that in addition to the regular quarterly dividends of 2½ ₱ cent. cash, there is an accumulation of surplus or undivided income, represented in current balances, new construction and sinking fund, to justify a large extra division of profits, in scrip or cash, hereafter.

In the afternoon, on Broad-street, Open Board of Brokers, the market was weaker, and the following quotations were made as compared with Tuesday. Gold returned to 145⅜@145⅞:

Among the 1st of November changes in the Stock line we notice that Mr. Fronck retires from the firm of Stimson, Fronck & Co., No. 25 William-street. The business goes on under the style of H. C. Stimson & Co. Mr. A. E. Laing, of the Public Board, takes into partnership his son, Mr. H. E. Laing, and Mr. S. Wetherell, under the style of Laing, Wetherell & Co. We also refer in this connection to the card of the new firm of Stuckle, Becker, Walbridge & Co., No. 17 Broad-street, Mr. Walbridge being a member of the Stock Exchange Board. Mr. Stephen H. Alden, of Albany, with a capital consisting of $50,000, has become a special partner in the Stock Exchange firm of Courtney & Mills, Exchange-place.

GENERAL MARKETS.

New-York, Wednesday, Nov. 1—P. M.

Receipts of Produce since our last: 10 bbls. Ashes, 13,496 bbls. Flour, 355 bbls. Corn Meal, 37,461 bushels Wheat, 161,753 bushels Corn, 10,942 bushels Oats, 16,239 bushels Rye, 48,955 bushels Barley, 625 bushels Malt, 81 pkgs. Provisions, and 121 bbls. Whisky.

ASHES—Continue scarce and quiet at $8 25@$8 50 for Pots, and $8 50@$8 75 for Pearls, ₱ 100 lbs. Stock, 464 bbls.

COFFEE—Has been in moderate demand and steady in price, including Java, at 28c.@32c.; Rio, at 18½c.@22½c.; Maracaibo, at 21c.@24½c.; Laguayra, at 21c.@23½c.; St. Domingo, at 18c.@19½c., in gold, ₱ lb. Sales, to-day, 1,200 bags Rio, and 400 bags St. Domingo, within our range.

COTTON—Has been more sought after at steady prices, Middlings closing at 56c.@57½c. ₱ lb., on sales and resales, since our last, of 3,200 bales. The receipts at this port, thus far this week, have averaged 4,529 bales a day, making 119,046 bales since the 1st of October, and 229,930 bales since the 1st of September. The exports of Cotton from this port, in October, amounted to 52,594 bales. The stock on hand and on shipboard not cleared at this port is estimated at 155,000 bales. Mr. Wm. P. Wright, in his Cotton circular for the Scotia, says: "In this market a gradual decline has been submitted to of about 2c.@3c. ₱ lb. up to yesterday morning, when the business was brought to a stand by the decline in Liverpool. The sales yesterday were small, at irregular rates, and we closed dull at the quotations, which must be regarded as entirely nominal. Holders show no desire to press, and refuse offers of 57c. for even-running Middling cotton. The sales for the week are estimated at 26,000 bales. The market this morning opens with a much better feeling. The Liverpool news being better than was reported yesterday by private telegrams per City of Dublin, Middling Orleans is held generally at 58c.@59c. The following is a statement of the movement in Cotton since the 1st of September last: Receipts at the ports in the United States, 300,000 bales; exported to Great Britain, 128,000 bales; exported to France, 7,000 bales; exported to other foreign ports, 2,000 bales; total exports, 137,000 bales. Stock on hand, 336,000 bales. Of which during the past week included in the above: Receipts at the ports, 45,000 bales; exports to Great Britain, 29,500 bales; exports to other foreign ports, 500 bales; total exports, 30,000 bales. Supply—The current estimates of the quantity of cotton remaining in the Southern States at the close of the war are generally about 1,700,000 bales. In England at the latest dates they are a trifle less. As was remarked in my last circular, all estimates must be regarded as mere speculation; but it is singular that although we have now received about 750,000 bales, or nearly one-half the supposed quantity, we hear no word of failing supplies at any point; on the contrary, at most of the railroad depots in Alabama, there are large quantities of cotton waiting shipment. The low stage of the rivers, and the lack of the means of transportation in other States retard the free movement of cotton to some extent; notwithstanding which the receipts into the ports of the United States exceed 40,000 bales per week."

Meyers' Domestic Corsets.—Cane, $10 50 ₱ doz.; Whalebone, $14 @22 ₱ doz. The following dispatches have been bulletined in the Dry Goods Exchange to-day: Chicago.—Active trade to-day. Prices remain unchanged, except for heavy cotton goods; Standard Prints, 18½c.; Sheetings, 36c. Baltimore.—Market very quiet; goods weak. Cincinnati.—Business very dull and prices weak. Louisville.—Trade moderate; Brown Sheetings, 33c.@35c.; Prints—Standard, 27c.@29c. Money easy, moderate demand. Exchange scarce. Boston.—Trade good; prices same as yesterday. Philadelphia.—Dry goods unchanged and dull, but without any alterations in prices.

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western Flour has been in good demand to-day at a further partial advance of 10c. ₱ bbl. Sales since our last, 13,400 bbls., including very inferior to choice Superfine State and Western, at $7 60@$8 10; very poor to [illegible] $8 40; round-hoop Extra Ohio, inferior to good shipping brands, at $8 95@$9 15 ₱ bbl. We now quote:

Superfine State and Western	$7 60	@$8 10
Extra State	8 20	@ 8 70
Extra Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, &c.	8 25	@12 25
Extra Ohio, round-hoop, ship'g brands	8 95	@ 9 15
Extra Ohio, trade and family brands	9 20	@12 25
Extra Genesee	8 75	@12 25
Poor to very choice extra Missouri	9 00	@16 00

Southern Flour is advancing. Sales since our last 700 bbls., in lots, at $9 65@$10 90 for poor to good, and $10 95@$16 for good to very choice extra brands, ₱ bbl. Canadian Flour is a shade higher. Sales 500 bbls. Extra at $8 20@$12 25 ₱ bbl. Rye Flour continues inactive, including Superfine at $7@$8 25 ₱ bbl. Corn Meal has been in fair demand at $4 40 for Western, $4 60 for Jersey, and $4 65 for Brandywine ₱ bbl. Sales, 750 bbls.

GRAIN.—Wheat has been lightly dealt in, to-day, prices of Spring ruling in favor of buyers, while those of Winter have been quoted somewhat firmer. Sales, since our last, 31,000 bushels, including White Western on private terms; Old Red Western at $2 29; old Chicago and Milwaukee Club at $1 80; and Amber State at $2 35@$2 40 ₱ bushel. Corn has been more freely offered, to-day, closing quite heavily at a reduction of 1c.@2c. ₱ bushel. Sales, since our last, 80,000 bushels at 80c.@86c. for unsound, and 87c.@90c., closing at 87c.@89c. for sound mixed Western, afloat and in store, ₱ bushel. Rye has been in moderate request; sales have been made of 3,000 bushels Canada, at $1 20 ₱ bushel. Barley has been less active, but held very firmly. Sales, 9,000 bushels Canada West, at $1 30 ₱ bushel. Oats have been quiet at drooping prices. We quote Western at 55c.@57c. for sound, afloat, and 58½c.@59c., in store; and 46c.@52c. for unsound ₱ bushel.

HAY—North River bale has been in moderate demand, at 80c.@90c. for poor to choice, ₱ 100 lbs.

HOPS—Have been in good request at 25c.@60c. for new, and 10c.@40c. for one-year old, ₱ lb.

METALS—The movements in this line, in October, Messrs. Winterhoff & Co. notice thus: "Tin has declined to 26½c. for Straits, with sales of 2,000 slabs on the spot. For 3,000 slabs to arrive—part from the East Indies—26¼c.@26⅜c. has been paid; 1,000 slabs Banca, October shipment from Holland, were sold at 27½c. Since a few days the market is firmer, and we quote English, 24c.; Straits, 26⅜c.; and Banca, 27½c. to 28c. The quotations are all in gold. The importations for the month amount to 9,800 slabs Straits—3,500 from the East Indies—900 slabs Banca and 6,300 ingots English. We estimate the stock at 6,500 slabs Straits, 500 do. Banca, and 30 tons English, equal to 900 slabs—total in Boston and New-York, 7,900 slabs, against 9,750 do. on the 31st of October, 1864, and 23,100 do. on the 31st of October, 1863. Our market has given way a little under the rather large shipments expected from England, but with the advices of the rise in quotations in London, and a small stock here, our prices must also go higher. Under any circumstances, our stock cannot but be comparatively light for some time to come. Spelter—The stock remains small, and there is no domestic in the market. The parcels of Silesian, which arrived, had been sold some time ago; 200 tons, October shipment from Hamburg, have been sold at 6⅜c. gold, and 100 tons, November shipment, 6⅛c. On the spot we quote Silesian nominally 7c. gold or 10½c. currency. The importations for the month are 255 tons. Copper has remained unchanged without any transactions of consequence. The severe drouth has seriously interfered with the consumption of the raw material, and manufacturers have scarcely bought anything. On the other hand, sellers have not been urging, and the quotations have been the same during the entire month, viz.: 32½c.@32⅞c. for Baltimore, 32⅞c. for Portage Lake, and 33c.@33⅛c. for Detroit smelted. The arrivals from the Lake are insignificant and the stocks of all kinds uncommonly small, and in few hands. A lot of 75 tons Chili Copper, just arrived from England, is not offered for sale. We have also had an importation of 25 tons Quincy, returned from Hamburg. The advices from London favor the opinion that the European market will advance, and, under present circumstances, this is likely to have a favorable effect on prices here. We think that our stocks are not sufficient to last us through the Winter, and we shall have to import some foreign Copper. Lead has advanced, with a steady business for consumption. With a diminished stock and the advices of the advances in prices and freights in Europe, a lively demand sprang up, and on the 22d and 23d 3,700 tons were sold, mostly on speculation. The transactions embraced 900 tons on the spot and 2,800 tons to arrive, October and November shipments, from England and Germany. The prices paid were 6⅝c.@6⅞c., gold. The market is very firm, and sales have since been made at 6¾c. for German, 6⅞c.@7c. for best English, to arrive, and 10½c. in currency on the spot. Of domestics there is no stock. The above sales include, as stated, shipments to be made from Europe. We learn by the steamer's mail, received yesterday, that the scarcity of freight-room interferes seriously with the fulfilment of engagements of shippers, and our supply will not come in as speedily as expected, although large purchases for this market have been made. The importations for the month are 1,350 tons foreign. The deliveries for consumption are estimated at 2,750 tons, and the stock at 800 tons, against 3,400 tons, both on the 31st of October, 1864, and on the same date 1863.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been in very limited demand, to-day, and quite heavy. Sales since our last, 1,400 bbls., in lots, at $33 75@$33 87½, closing at $33 87½ for Mess; $28 75@$29 for Prime Mess ₱ bbl. Stock, 67,795 bbls., against 86,485 bbls. Oct. 1, 1865, and 73,356 bbls. Nov. 1, 1864. Cut Meats continue inactive at 16½c.@17½c. for Shoulders, and 20c.@23½c. for Hams; Bacon has been in moderate demand; sales, to-day, equal to 125 pkgs., at 21c. for short rib, ice-cured, smoked bellies, ₱ lb. Lard is in more demand, chiefly for future delivery; sales, 540 tcs. and bbls., at 24c.@28½c. for common to choice, ₱ lb.; also, 750 bbls., for December and January delivery, seller's option, the former at 24c. ₱ lb. Beef is in demand at $14@$17 for Extra Mess, and $11@$14 for Plain Mess; sales have been reported of 600 bbls. Tierce Beef continues unaltered. Stock of Beef, 36,955 tcs. and bbls., against 42,510 tcs. and bbls. Oct. 1, 1865, and 14,510 tcs. and bbls. Nov. 1, 1864. Beef Hams have been more sought after. Sales, 50 bbls. Extra, (Cragin & Co.'s packing,) at 45c.; and 100 bbls. good Western, to arrive, at $37 ₱ bbl. Butter is inactive at 40c.@55c. for poor to prime, and 55c.@65c. for fancy State, and 30c.@42c. for Western, ₱ lb. Cheese is dull at 14c.@19c., for poor to very choice, ₱ lb.

RICE—Is quiet, yet steady. Stock, 13,628 bags cleaned, and 16,000 uncleaned East India.

SUGARS—Have not varied materially. Sales since our last 560 hhds. Cuba, &c., at from 13¼c.@15c.; and 380 boxes Havana, at 13½c.@14c. ₱ lb. Refined Sugars continue quiet, at 16½c.@20⅞c. ₱ lb. Stock, 34,399 hhds, 61,579 bags and 48,188 boxes; also, 30 hhds. Melado.

TALLOW—Has been in limited demand; sales 36,000 lbs., at 14¼c.@14½c. ₱ lb.

TOBACCO—The movements in this line, in October, Messrs. M. Rader & Son notice thus: The demand for Kentucky Tobacco has been very steady throughout the month; the sales, about 7,000 hhds., were mostly for export; manufacturers having fairly stocked previously kept passive. That the quantity of heavy sorts produced in this year's crop will fall much short of last year's limited yield, seems to be now generally admitted, which created increased inquiry for these sorts. Most of the finer parcels on the market were taken up at full prices for England and the Continent, leaving us now with but light stocks on hand. The lighter grades derived no benefit from this movement, and in some instances were a little easier, but on the whole we maintain our previous quotations: Sound Lugs, 5c.@8½c.; Common Leaf, 6½c.@7½c.; Medium Leaf, 8c.@12c.; Good Leaf, 9½c.@14c.; Fine Leaf, 12c.@17c.; Selections, 15c.@22c.—gold. Receipts at this port compare with last year's as follows: Receipts for October, 1865—10,796 hhds. Total receipts to date—75,905 hhds. Receipts for October, 1864—17,343 hhds. Total to Oct. 31, 1864—120,567 hhds. Some movements are already going on in the new leaf, the Maysville crop is reported as sold at pretty full prices, being colory and very suitable for our home manufacturers. The supplies of Virginia Leaf continue to be light, and consisting mainly of ordinary and nondescript, which can only be sold at low figures, ranging at from 6c.@12c. currency. A few parcels of better quality and good condition found ready buyers, at 16c.@28c., currency. Spanish Tobacco continues in moderate request for good high flavored lots of Havana and Yara, of which the sales have been 2,500 bales of Havana at 80c.@95c., duty paid: 250 bales new crop Yara, well cured, at 85c.@90c., duty paid; and 500 bales Havana, in bond, at 10c.@13c., gold. 1,200 bales were shipped direct. Seedleaf Tobacco has been rather inactive; with the exception of about 2,000 cases Ohio Seed, taken for export, the sales have been altogether of a jobbing character. Manufactured Tobacco has not been as lively as previously, caused principally by the falling off of receipts from Virginia, and the absence of desirable sorts in first hands. City and Western work has also been somewhat neglected. The business of the month has been mainly a jobbing trade for Southern markets. Bonded goods have participated in the general inaction. Prices remain about the same as last year.

MEDICAL.

THOUSANDS ARE TIMELY SAVED BY Dr. KENNEDY'S skillful and improved treatment.—Private diseases cured in the shortest possible time by Dr. KENNEDY & CO., No. 195 Elm-st., New-York, without the use of mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. KENNEDY, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. KENNEDY, No. 195 Elm-st. Call, send or write.

A. M. MAURICEAU, PROFESSOR OF midwifery and operating surgeon, having over thirty years' successful practice in this city, guarantees a safe and immediate removal of all special irregularities and obstructions in females, without pain or exposure, with or without medicine. Can be consulted with the utmost confidence at his private office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York, or by mail.

Dr. A. M. Mauriceau is the author of "The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion," strictly intended for those whose health and circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family; a perusal of which will convince any lady of his thorough knowledge of her complaints. Every lady who has it is secure from danger and imposition. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., or sent by mail, by addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City. Sold also at No. 1 Vesey-st., New-York; in Boston, No. 13 Court-st.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitutions, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 195 Elm-st., New-York.

ADVICE TO MARRIED LADIES.—MADAME RESTELL, Professor of Midwifery, having over thirty years' successful practice in this city, guarantees a safe and immediate removal of all special irregularities and obstructions in females, with or without medicine, at one interview, or by mail. Can be consulted with the utmost confidence at No. 162 Chambers-st. Her infallible French Female Pills, No. 1, price $1, or No. 2, which are four degrees stronger than No. 1, and can never fail, are safe and healthy, price $5, can be sent by mail. Also sold at the druggist's, No. 152 Greenwich-st., near Liberty-st. Madame RESTELL deems it her duty to caution ladies against imitators, who not only deprive them of their means, but their health.

NEW-YORK MEDICAL INSTITUTE.—Established by Prof. R. A. King, for the treatment and cure of all Chronic, Mercurial and female diseases and derangements, on newly discovered and purely scientific principles, which differ from all others in the speedy and permanent cures which are performed by them daily at the institute, No. 126 9th-st., a few doors west of Broadway, New-York City.

CERTIFICATE OF COL. KID.—BARRENNESS REMOVED.—I was a married man for thirteen years, during which time my wife bore me no children; I consulted Dr. King, and in less than twelve months she bore me a fine healthy son, and is now the mother of three children.
COL. H. KID.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE—Containing nearly 300 pages and 150 fine plates and engravings of the anatomy of the sexual organs, in a state of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, its deplorable consequences upon the mind and body, with the author's plan of treatment—the only rational and successful mode of cure, as shown by the report of cases treated. A truthful adviser of the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain doubts of their physical condition. THIS BOOK should be read by all before commencing any treatment, as it will save much time, expense imposition, suffering and danger. Price $1 50. EVERARDUS WARNER, Publisher, 1 Vesey-st., Astor House.

STRUCTURE OF THE URETHRA.—EVERARDUS WARNER, No. 2 Vesey-st., Astor House, has just published an abridgement of two lectures, delivered to his private surgical classes, descriptive of each variety of stricture and his method for its immediate cure by the new instrument, the urethrotome, by EDWARD H. DIXON, Editor of the Scalpel. Price 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR FEMALES, No. 7 Beach-st., New-York, conducted by Dr. DURANT & CO., is fitted up elegantly, expressly for the convenience of ladies requiring nursing during confinement, and the utmost attention is paid to the comfort and welfare of the patient. The strictest confidence always observed. Competent nurses in constant attendance.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROP are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in case of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchased directly of Dr. POWERS, No. 195 Elm-st., New-York.

PILES, PILES, FISTULAS.—DITCHETT'S celebrated SPANISH SPECIFIC for the PILES, that has cured thousands of our well-known citizens, and whose certificates vouch for the same, can be obtained at No. 97 Roosevelt-st., and at No. 2 New Chambers-st., second floor, New-York.

DR. DURANT OFFERS, WITH CONFIDENCE to the ladies, his celebrated remedy for the removal of all irregularities or obstructions; relieves after all other so-called remedies have failed. Ladies, try it. Office No. 7 Beach-st., New-York.

DR. HUNTER'S BOTANIC CORDIAL restores the vigor of youth in four days. Gives health, strength and vigor to the most shattered system. $5 a bottle. No. 3 Division-st., New-York, the only place.

DR. SELDEN TREATS FEMALE IRREGULARITIES and obstructions with success, at one interview, by a new method, without danger, pain or medicine. Office, No. 267 6th-av. Entrance on 14th-st.

DR. DURANT INSURES THE LADIES a speedy relief from all special irregularities and obstructions at one interview. No. 7 Beach-st., New-York.

GENTLEMEN CAN, WITH CONFIDENCE, consult Dr. LEWIS, at his old-established office, No. 7 Beach-st., three doors from West Broadway, New-York.

MANY THOUSANDS ARE RUINED BEYOND REDEMPTION in this life by not calling on Dr. HUNTER sooner or later. He can cure the worst cases of secret disease in a shorter time than any other physician, or no pay taken. Skeptics and doubters will please call and read lists of reliable certificates of cures made within the last thirty years of almost hopeless cases, that had had the benefit of dozens of our most eminent physicians and surgeons. Dr. Hunter is in constant attendance from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Charges moderate, and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. His wonderful medical discovery, DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures private diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, and possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. $2 per vial. Book, 50 pages, gratis, on nervous debility, causes of impotency, marasmus, &c.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

GENERAL NEWS.

The telegraph lately advised us that Mr. Chavez had been elected delegate to Congress from New-Mexico, but it afforded us no idea of the meaning of the election. By mail, however, we have full advices, from which we learn that this election was a severe contest between the Republican and Democratic parties, resulting in the complete triumph of the former. Chavez, the Republican candidate, had over 2,300 majority, beating Perez, who was the late member. The vote appears to have been an unusually large one, Chavez polling over 8,000. Eight of the ten counties in the Territory elect Republican delegates to the Legislature, so that we shall have a decided majority in that body.

The Boston city government passed an order, Monday night, authorizing the Cochituate Water Board to build a reservoir of 500,000,000 gallons capacity, on the Lawrence meadow, in Brighton and Newton, to cost $900,000, and to purchase land on which to build the same, at a cost of not more than $30,000, and authorizing the Treasurer to borrow the above amounts.

A curious railroad accident occurred at Clinton, Conn., a few days ago. An express train was approaching, when a cow, annoyed by a small dog, dashed on to the rails. When the train had passed, the cow lay with her head cut off, and the little dog, with his tail cut off, sat between the rails looking after the retiring cars with a face indicative of the most intense astonishment and disgust.

Reorganization in Arkansas has progressed quietly, and is a success. President Johnson informed the Governor of that State that there will be no interference with its government; and not only does he invite the State to resume its former relations with the Federal Government, but promises it all the aid of the power of the government in the premises.

The Nashville Times says the cave mystery is losing holding on public curiosity. The sensation evidently has very little backbone, and has lived this long mainly from the fact of guards being posted at various points, it being taken for granted that the military authorities were acting on information not open to the community.

The census returns of 1860 show that there were in that year in operation in the United States thirty-three establishments for the manufacture of carpenter's tools, with an invested capital of $578,250, paying for labor $251,264, for raw material $214,974, employing 756 hands, and yielding annually products amounting to $781,430.

The number of bids for performing mail service in Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina and Florida, opened yesterday at Washington, was comparatively small. Two hundred of the most extensive mail routes are, however, already in operation in the South

Lieut.-Gen. Grant has rented the residence formerly occupied by John C. Breckinridge, on I-street, adjoining the property of the late Stephen A. Douglas, and has not purchased the latter, as stated. The Douglas house is for sale, as heretofore stated.

Hon. James L. Orr, Governor elect of South Carolina, was pardoned some weeks ago, but as that State has not repudiated the rebel war debt, she has failed to prepare herself for official recognition as a State loyal to the Union.

Ed Pray, a Northampton clerk, killed a young wildcat, weighing twelve pounds, while hunting at Southampton, Mass., Monday. He saw another one four times as large, who made such demonstrations that he retreated.

The Mexican Liberals have been defeated before Matamoras with considerable loss. The fighting took place on the 25th ult., and lasted three hours, when the Liberals retreated, after losing 600 men in killed and wounded.

There has, as yet, been no definite Executive action on the findings of the Wirz Commission, owing to the immense mass of evidence to be examined. A brief of the case was not sent from the bureau of military justice to the President until yesterday.

The Atlanta papers of Oct. 27 announce the arrival there of Mr. Stephens, en route to his home. One of the Augusta papers nominates Mr. Stephens for Governor.

In New-Hampshire and Connecticut, despite President Johnson's proclamation, the Governors have named the last Thursday in November as the day of Thanksgiving.

The President yesterday received a dispatch from Hon. H. V. Johnson announcing that the Georgia State Convention had passed an ordinance repealing the ordinance of secession.

LOCAL NEWS.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last evening—President McLean in the chair—the Finance Committee's report of the apportionment for 1866 was adopted; a communication was received from Mayor Gunther, nominating Ex-Judge Henry Hilton, of the Court of Common Pleas, as commissioner for the Sixth District, in place of Dr. Francis Lieber, resigned; the Finance Committee reported that it is inexpedient to advertise the board's proceedings in the Transcript and Leader after the 31st of December next, and the board adopted the report and instructed the clerk to give the daily press timely notice of the commissioners' meetings; a report was made censuring the School Trustees of the Seventh Ward for prodigal expenditures; Miss Mary McLean was elected Vice-Principal of the Female Department of Grammar School No. 21, in the Fourteenth Ward; and the fourteenth annual report of the Faculty of the Free Academy was received. The board estimate the cost of maintaining schools in this city in 1866 at $2,454,327 54.

The Fire Commissioners, at their meeting yesterday, cut loose entirely from the old volunteer department, having relieved all the remaining companies yet in service, as follows: Engines Nos. 4, 16, 17, 28 and 47; Hose Nos. 1, 11, 12, 14, 33, 38 and 26; and Truck Company No. 3. The board also organized another steam-engine company, to be known as Metropolitan Company No. 33, located at No. 220 Mercer-street. Having relieved from further duty the assistant engineers of the old department, they appointed M. Hallman, Abraham Horn and John Hart engineers, for duty in the suburban districts. They offered a reward of $500 for the conviction of parties found injuring the hose and other property of the Metropolitan Fire Commissioners.

At Police Trials, yesterday, before Commissioners Acton, Bergen and McMurray, sixty-nine defendants responded. Among the visitors at Trial Chamber were Hon. Frederick A. Conkling, Inspector Folk and Supervisor Herman, of Brooklyn; and Messrs. Henry R. McMurray, Garret G. Bergen, and Henry B. Asten. Alderman Richard Ternan's charges against Sergt. John Matthews and Patrolman John Eichhorn, of the Fiftieth Precinct, alleging that they had interfered at a Democratic primary election, was dismissed. The case brought out an interesting tale of a basket of champagne which has recently been the subject of inquiry among Brooklyn politicians.

Inspector Folk, of Brooklyn, and a posse of police, yesterday, made a descent on a counterfeiter's den at Newtown, L. I. A number of lithographic plates of twenty-five and fifty cent postal currency, and $5 and $50 Treasury notes, were seized; also a quantity of chemicals, presses, &c., but no printed bills. One person was found in the place, who gave his name as Giovanni Guccheri. It is supposed that the parties occupying the place had notice of the approach of the police.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of Union citizens of the Ninth Ward was held in Bleecker Building last evening, to ratify the nomination of Messrs. Lent and Stewart, candidates for the State Senate and the Assembly. Stirring speeches were made by Sinclair Tousey, Chairman of the meeting, Hon. Abraham Lent, Ex-Alderman Dayton, Hon. Thos. E. Stewart, Col. Seymour, and Col. O'Beirne, of Ohio. The best of feeling prevailed.

The Police Commissioners yesterday resolved to treat the public to a grand parade and review of the Metropolitan Police, some time during the current month. About 1,200 officers are to be marched through Broadway to the City Hall, and there reviewed by the civil authorities of New-York and Brooklyn.

Mr. James Manning, of No. 326 Pearl-street, suddenly expired, yesterday afternoon, in Chambers-street, near Centre. The body was taken to the Sixth Ward Police-station. Mr. Manning was 60 years of age.

In the contested-election case between O'Brien and Houghtalin, a motion was yesterday made for a mandamus to compel the Common Council to proceed with the examination.

Judge Barnard yesterday granted an injunction to restrain M. B. Field, Collector of Internal Revenue, from enforcing the tax assessed on the whole amount of the capital of the Bank of Savings.

The Customs revenue (in coin) of the government through the port of New-York, in October, amounted to $11,064,410 against only $3,697,335 same month last year. Thus far in the current week it has averaged $424,167 a day, or equal to a weekly aggregate of $2,545,002.

Business in produce and merchandise yesterday was rather moderate. Flour advanced slightly. Corn and pork were cheaper. The changes in other articles were not important. Freights were quiet, with 488 vessels of all classes in port.

The market for Railways at the Stock Exchange was buoyant, yesterday, and a large business was done. Government Stocks steady. Money 7 per cent. Exchange, 108¾@109 per cent. Gold, 145¼@145⅞ per cent.

The income of the government from internal revenue, during the month of October, reached $20,457,983. Thus far in the current week it has averaged $1,274,088 a day.

The Aspect of the Canvass.

Neither party is putting forth any great effort. Not for years has there been so little political excitement during the last week before the election. This comes from two opposite causes—the confidence of the Union party, and the utter hopelessness of its opponents. When the two tickets were first put into the field, there was some prospect of a brisk struggle. The marvelous change of front which the Democratic Convention made in adopting the main principles of the Union party, its resorting to the Union party for some of its most important candidates, and its audacious claim to the peculiar championship of President Johnson, made it appear that possibly a rally and dash might be made which would severely test our strength. But soon it became obvious that the tactics of the convention had really made the party less formidable than ever. The number of War Democrats who were induced to return to their old ranks was exceedingly small, while the very shifting of ground produced profound dissatisfaction among all the Peace Democrats who had any regard to consistency. What the Freeman's Journal says of its party in its last issue, is strictly correct: "The Democracy are disorganized; they have neither the spirit nor the organization of the old party." The attempt which has been made by some of the party prints to make up a false issue of freedman suffrage against the Union party, has amounted to nothing, for the simple reason that in no State Convention has the Union party declared itself in favor of imposing that suffrage upon the South against its will. It is true that the most of the Union party would be pleased if the Southern States would admit the freedmen, at least the most intelligent and deserving portion of them, to the ballot box. In that they agree fully with the frankly declared sentiments of President Johnson. But that is a very different matter from insisting upon the government of freedmen suffrage by the Southern States, as a sine qua non to restoration. The people understand the difference, and have not cared a button for all the Democratic rant upon the subject.

There are other questions which the Democratic leaders would be glad to turn to account, if they could muster courage enough; as for instance the question of admitting the Southern Congressmen at the beginning of the session, without taking the oath required by law, and without reference to aught else than the authenticity of their credentials—the question of breaking up the Freedmen's Bureau at once, and abandoning the freedmen to the unrestricted control of each Southern State—the question of leaving it to the option of each Southern State whether or not to ratify the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting slavery, and whether or not to repudiate the debt contracted to prosecute the rebellion. Upon these points the Democratic newspapers, so far as they express themselves at all, favor the extreme Southern pretensions; but they are very chary in the treatment of them, and avoid all definite issues.

The party, in fact, has shown no real earnestness in any direction. It has been weighed down by the consciousness of having forfeited the confidence of the people by its conduct in the war, and by its sense of the uselessness of trying to convince the people of the sincerity of its conversion to the principles established by the war. Its shifts have been too palpable to give stimulus to the canvass. Its only chance of escaping defeat by an overwhelming majority lies in the very fact that it has not exhibited force enough to arouse the Union party to any necessity of exerting its full strength against it. But such a defeat is desirable. The party that sought to cripple the government in its life and death struggle with the rebellion should not be suffered to live. Blow after blow should be dealt it until it shall become utterly defunct, and its place be occupied by some other party, whose record, however brief, shall be clear of the stain of disloyalty. We can welcome any new political organization which the new order of things may generate, but as for this party, which bred treason and nursed copperheadism, the sooner it gets its eternal quietus the better.

Southern and Northern Capital and Enterprise.

We hear of quite a number of extensive business ventures and planting enterprises undertaken of late in the Southern States, upon the plan of combining in them the capital and enterprise of capable Northern and Southern men. Gen. Taylor, a son of President Zachary Taylor, brother-in-law of Jeff. Davis, and formerly prominent as a rebel commander in the Gulf States, is reported to be now at the head of a cotton-planting association, possessed of heavy Northern capital, and proposing as the field of its future operations the State of Louisiana. Gen. Heth, of Virginia, is trying to interest Northern capitalists in an extensive Southern project; and Gen. Jo. Johnston has just been chosen President of an express company which originated in Richmond, but which, it is intended, shall have ramifications alike over the States of the South and North, and shall combine the capital, enterprise, industry and interests of both sections. There are numerous other schemes more or less analogous in character and purpose to these; and there are few Northern capitalists but have been approached by Southerners with projects for the profitable employment of their surplus means in the planting States.

There is, of course, nothing new in the investment of large amounts of Northern capital in the Southern States. By it, most of their railroads have been built, and it has originated and sustained their most important commercial operations. But the applications now proposed for this capital are novel, and the circumstances under which it is intended to be applied are without precedent in our experience. It is proposed to employ Northern capital extensively in the organization and conduct of schemes for cotton planting in the South, and in the advantageous development of the natural resources, and the making of avail the labor of that section now going to waste. It is intended to do this in coöperation with those of the South who are familiar with its peculiar industries and labor, as well as its soil, climate and crops, and the conditions and necessities of these; and who can thus use them all to the best advantage and highest profit.

In a business point of view, with proper management and with men of proper character on both sides in the various cases, nothing could be more promising than enterprises based on this plan.

The South has incalculable resources, and is the most favorable part of the globe's surface for the cultivation of certain great staples which will always be in demand to the utmost limit of its productive capacity. But it is now destitute, as it has always been deficient, of the capital necessary for putting these profitable productive forces in play, but especially necessary at this time, when, after a great war and a great social and industrial revolution, it is in a condition that may either be succeeded by enduring ruin or by the establishment of a new era of prosperity as boundless as its resources.

In the hands of a not very numerous body of Southern whites are vast quantities of rich lands, which they have been accustomed to cultivate, but for the cultivation of which they can now command neither the means nor the labor. The working blacks, having been suddenly relieved from compulsory service, and their labor not being yet organized or economized under a new system, there is danger of their becoming a crushing burden instead of the producers of wealth. After all that has been said on the subject, we believe that, on the whole, the Southern whites are better adapted than any others to the management and supervision of the blacks in the labors in which they must be mainly employed in the South. At all events, it is quite certain that these negro laborers will either be managed and directed by those who were formerly their owners, or will receive none whatever of the direction which in their present state they assuredly require. It would not only be for their benefit, but for the general economy of the industry and skill of the whole country that their direction should be in the hands of those accustomed to it, and that they should work in coöperative harmony with the hereditary owners of the soil.

We are glad, therefore, on these and other grounds, at the indications that those in the North who possess or control capital, are directing their attention to aiding planters and energetic Southern men in the reorganization of Southern labor, industry and production. There are abundant opportunities for profitable investment in this way, which we believe are equaled in no other part of the country. And while a judicious use of capital for this purpose in the planting States will inure to the profit of the investors and their coadjutors, it will also be of vast advantage to the prosperity of the whole country.

The Soldier's Vote.—In all the elections which have occurred since the close of the war, the disbanded soldiers have voted with the Union party with the same general accord as when under arms. They have everywhere, East and West, treated with scorn all the wooing of the Democratic party to support its tickets. The trick of making military nominations to win their confidence in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa, has been unavailing. The soldiers are implacable against the party which nursed Copperheadism, and which pronounced the war, wherein they were pouring out their blood, "a failure," the party, too, which did its best to bar them from the ballot-box. The army was the embodiment of the war spirit against the rebellion; and it is a moral impossibility that those who composed it should now turn themselves over to that party which was the conglomerate of everything that had any measure of sympathy with the rebellion. It is not in human nature for an organization of men who have poured out their blood for any cause to fraternize afterward with those who sought to betray that cause. Every day's perils encountered for the flag only made the soldier all the more devoted to it; and he worshiped it the most when most rent by the battle's rage. From the beginning, the army hated all factionists and malcontents. That hatred has never known abatement, and never will. The return to civil life will make no difference. So long as a soldier breathes, Copperheadism will have a mortal enemy.

The Suppression of Counterfeit Currency.—We have already called attention to the fact that sufficient energy and promptitude are not being displayed by the authorities in securing the punishment of counterfeiters of the national currency. A very great number of arrests of guilty parties have been reported within a few months, but so far we have heard of only one case of conviction. In the meantime the counterfeiters are evidently actively carrying on their work in this city and in many other parts of the country; for bogus notes of the smaller denominations, and some of large denominations, are continually being put in circulation. The losses to honest parties are heavy, and of course they fall mainly upon the poor. Faith in the currency is also thus shaken, and much other damage done.

There cannot be too great haste or severity exercised in punishing the culprits. Thus only will they learn the danger of their nefarious work, and thus only will it be stopped or kept within bounds. Every man of the large number of individuals under arrest ought to be brought to trial without delay, and every one proven to have been guilty, or to have been in complicity with guilty parties, ought to be quickly sentenced to the severest punishment which the law allows. Will the proper authorities do the people and themselves the justice of attending energetically to this important matter?

Cox, of Ohio.—This worthy has been stumping it in this State for the Slocum ticket. He is chiefly remembered in these parts for his speech before the "Democratic Association" in this city in the Winter of '63, devoted to the plan of leaving New-England "out in the cold." It was at the time when both the copperheads and the rebels were using every art and device to alienate the West from the East—shortly after Bragg's famous march to the Ohio, and his "proclamation to the Northwest," and Jeff. Davis' speech before the Mississippi Legislature, when he proclaimed that "from the Northwest would come the first gleams of peace." Gov. Seymour had just delivered a message, of which columns were devoted to the attempt to alienate loyal States from each other. Cox and Vallandigham and Pendleton were sent for by the "Democratic Association" to help on in this work of division, and both delivered speeches, which were applauded by every Democratic journal in the State. It was a crusade in the direct interest of the rebellion. The people of this State have not forgotten it. "Sunset Cox" can teach them nothing about their duties in the present canvass.

A Reminiscence.—It was only one short month before the battle of Gettysburgh that the great Democratic Peace Convention in this city, under the auspices of Fernando Wood, issued an address to the people declaring that "the war was the curse of the age in which we live"—that "the hand of God is uplifted against us"—and that "the war cannot succeed; we have been beaten; we cannot conquer the South." The Cooper Institute was crowded inside and outside with men who greeted with acclamations these sentiments, as expressed in resolutions and confirmed in harangues from six different platforms. While the bolder wing of the party were thus clamoring for an absolute surrender to the rebels, the more wary portion were engaged in denouncing the conscription law as intolerable tyranny, discrediting the national currency, magnifying the public debt, holding out the bugbear of foreign intervention, and racking the English language for terms of abuse against President Lincoln for not recalling to the chief command the most backward and timid of all living generals. The party thus made up, now that the war has ended in the most magnificent of triumphs, solicits the approbation and trust of the people. Party presumption never went further.

Shall They Be Rewarded.—The traitor Maury wrote to the London Times in our most perilous days: "all the embarrassments with which the Peace party can surround Mr. Lincoln, and all the difficulties that it throws in the way of the War party in the North, operate directly as so much aid and comfort to the South." It is the same party organization that now asks the approval of the loyal freemen of this State. The people will sooner see it scattered to the four winds of Heaven.

"Let Them Go."—At the great Seymour ratification meeting in this city, in October, 1862, in the very darkest period of the war, John Van Buren made a Southern sympathizing speech, in which he used these memorable words: "Take Richmond, and then, if they insist, let them go." The speaker had not boldness enough to advise a surrender to the rebellion outright, but did not hesitate to advertise the rebels, in the name of his party, that if they would satisfy the pride of the North by giving up Richmond, they might have their Confederacy if they pleased. This man is now a candidate for the Attorney-Generalship of this State. Ought a place of such honor and trust to be bestowed upon one who was untrue to the country in its day of need? Does the spirit which would thus give way to treason deserve reward?

Heavy Exports.—The returns of export clearances from the Custom-house, for the week ending on Tuesday evening, make up the extraordinarily heavy aggregate of $6,608,467 in currency, or about one hundred per cent. more than the total for the corresponding week of last year. Included in the week's exports have been 14,621 bales of cotton, valued at $3,523,735 in lawful money. Of this amount 12,450 bales, of the currency value of $3,001,449, were shipped to Liverpool; 1,741 bales, valued at $430,898, to Cork, doubtless "for orders," as the freight brokers phrase it; and 430 bales, valued at $91,398, to Havre. These enormous shipments of domestic produce must favorably affect our foreign trade balances, increase the supply of exchange, lessen the demand for gold, and vastly aid the chief financial agent of the government in his commendable efforts to restore the national finances to a specie basis.

The Cotton Movement.—Business in Cotton at all the shipping ports continues quite vigorous. At this port the receipts thus far in the current week have averaged 4,529 bales a day, making 119,046 bales since Oct. 1, against exports of 52,954 bales in the same time, leaving an estimated stock on hand, and on shipboard not cleared, of 155,000 bales.

Thus far in the current Cotton year, beginning with Sept. 1, the receipts at all the shipping ports reach 300,000 bales, (including 230,000 bales at this port,) against exports of 137,000 bales, including 128,000 bales to Great Britain, 7,000 bales to France, and 2,000 bales to other foreign ports. The estimated stock on hand and on shipboard not cleared, at the shipping ports, at latest dates, was 336,000 bales.

Prison Discipline.—A series of shocking details have been published of a case of alleged cruelty to a prisoner in the State Prison at Sing Sing, which resulted in the death of the victim. Either the representations are gross falsehoods or a gross outrage has been perpetrated. The matter, we are told, has been brought to the attention of the Prison Association of New-York, and we hope there can be no doubt that it will be thoroughly investigated, that justice may be done. It could not be in better hands than those of Judge Edmonds'.

AMUSEMENTS.

Academy of Music.—To-morrow (Friday) evening Meyerbeer's grand opera of "Robert il Diavolo" will be produced. The cast is unusually interesting.

The Theatres.—There was an unusual, if not a pleasant, excitement around the theatres last evening. It was known early in the day that the fiddlers intended to strike, and it was also known that the managers were fully resolved to resist the movement. The fiddlers have an association—the name of which we do not remember. It came into existence at a time when every one felt the necessity of combination, when all was gloomy, and to cling together seemed a matter of common brotherhood and prudence. The orchestral players at the theatres received nine dollars a week—they thought they ought to receive twelve. Combining for this advance they obtained it—and we think properly. Elated with their success, they conceived subsequently the idea of striking for fourteen dollars and they speedily did so. The managers again acceded to the demand, but with an understanding, as we are told, that it was final. We come now to the present season. The orchestras were engaged as usual; the managers did not anticipate a breach of faith, and with one or two exceptions did not make special contracts with the members of their orchestra. It is now—in the midst of the season—that these worthies strike. Instead of asking an advance of two or three dollars as they did before, they coolly demand an increase of six dollars—from fourteen to twenty dollars. The managers have rejected the proposition. They could not accept it;—first, because it was an unthought-of addition to their current expenses; and second, because there was no certainty that a few days hence the men who had been so faithless would not again demand a further and impossible access to their salaries. They (the managers) resolved therefore to put an end to the thing. The determination was right. In theatrical matters contracts are understood. It was understood, for instance, that an orchestra commencing the season on certain terms should end the season on the same terms. It was not understood that they would reject this implied contract, and make a demand which on the face of it is absurd. Absurd because when gold was at 240 they asked twenty per cent. advance, and now when gold is 145, they ask—not on the first prices, but the last—forty per cent. To resume our narration. The musicians demanded; the managers rejected. Last night was the battle-night, and we record the result. At the Academy of Music there was no change. Mr. Maretzek—with the long-headness which characterizes everything he does—engaged, at the commencement of the season, each member of the orchestra by a special contract. Each member remains true to him, because he knows if he is not so, he will instantly be involved in legal difficulties. It must also be mentioned that Mr. Maretzek pays many members of his orchestra much more than the association demands. At Wallack's Theatre there was a faithful band of five, a grand piano of Steinway and a cabinet organ of Mason & Hamlin. Mr. Mollenhauer, an artist toward whom every one must bow his head, played a few solos. If he were willing to do so every night, an orchestra of two would be sufficient—Mr. Mollenhauer and an accompanyist. To proceed with the singular and ridiculous story. At the Winter Garden there was no music. Mr. Hanley, the stage-manager, addressed the audience, and explained the trouble. The audience took the point and felt nothing about it, knowing probably that the establishment has a gentleman at its head who would not willingly take part in such a silly emeute. At the Olympic, the management toed the mark fairly and squarely. Steinway's piano was the orchestra. So also at Barnum's; there we had Steinway's grand only. At the Broadway Theatre there was an orchestra of six, and they discoursed most excellent music. At Niblo's and at the Old Bowery Theatre the orchestras being engaged for pantomime, &c., were retained by previous contract—as in the case of Mr. Maretzek. At the New Bowery Theatre Mr. Lingard had to address the audience. There was one of Steinway's grand pianos in the house, but no one to play on it. The audience stood this double deprivation with fortitude, and we are persuaded that if Mr. Lingard would make a speech every evening, his friends would cheerfully omit the fiddling part of the business.

Until we hear that decent members of the musical profession indorse the action of their overwhelming majority, we decline to speak about a purely dishonorable business transaction in which, nevertheless, every one seems to be involved. The theatrical players are clearly wrong. As far as concerts are concerned, they are not only wrong, but infamously wrong. A member of this disgraceful association will now play at a ball, ranging from 9 o'clock in the evening until 5 o'clock the next morning for $7 50; whilst if he is called upon to play a symphony by Beethoven at a concert, occupying probably [illegible] musicians who will correct this matter. For the moment it is the duty of the public to support the managers.

Nicola Meister's Dioramic Paintings.—The Broadway Atheneum, between Fourth-street and Astor-place, offers great inducements to all lovers of the beautiful in art and natural scenery. The splendid Alpine, Tyrolese and Italian mountain summits, the lovely lakes of Lombardy and the storm-beaten coasts of Norway, are there represented nightly in a series of colossal oil paintings, taken from nature by the distinguished artist, Nicola Meister, of Cologne, whose well-earned celebrity in Germany, during the last thirty years, has been transferred, at last, to this country. The pieces are exhibited under his personal direction, with the most charming illusive effects, mimicking, with wondrous truthfulness, the dawn of day, sunset, moonlight, and the lightnings, wind and thunder of the tempest. The interludes are agreeably filled with brief descriptions by an experienced tourist, and relieved by appropriate music, imitating the Alpine horn, Italian serenades and mountain minstrelsy.

To-night, and for this occasion only, the celebrated Colonia Musical Society will assist in some of their finest vocal performances. Our friends should by no means omit seeing this really beautiful and meritorious exhibition of dioramic art.

Crispino in Brooklyn.—We are glad to predict that an immense audience will attend the performance of the new opera at the Brooklyn Academy to-night. Nearly every seat is taken, and the night will, doubtless, record a triumph. Kellogg, Ixran and Rovere are in the cast.

FROM SAVANNAH.

Effects of the Recent Heavy Gale—Conflagration in the City—Destruction of Cotton by Fire.

New-York, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The steamer Leo, from Savannah 28th ult., has arrived.

The steamer Wabash, from Philadelphia for New Orleans, put in in distress, having lost smoke-stack and rails. Two men were lost overboard, viz.: Geo. Conrad, seaman, and John McCarthy, formerly a steamtug captain at Philadelphia.

The steamer Idaho, with 134 laborers for the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad, had arrived from New-York.

St. Paul's Church, at Savannah, was burnt on the 26th.

Hon. H. V. Johnson had gone to practicing law at Augusta.

One hundred and fifteen bales of cotton were burned on the cars of the Alabama and Florida Railroad at Montgomery recently.

The steamer Raleigh arrived on the 26th from New-York. She took fire on the passage, but was extinguished readily. Her fires were also extinguished by seas, and the utmost consternation prevailed among the passengers for a time, but the skill of her officers carried her through safely.

The receipts of cotton have been fair at Savannah. The market was dull and the prices are lower; middling, 52c.; Sea Island unchanged, at 85c.@$1 25; most of the sales at $1@$1 05.

The steamer Chase had not arrived from New-York.

The Gale on the Lakes—List of Disasters.

Buffalo, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The Commercial, of this city, to-day publishes a list of disasters by the late gale. The following are the most important ones:

The propeller Her Majesty was sunk at Port Colborne; she had 500 barrels of flour. The propeller Marquette was sunk in shoal water at Bar Point. The propeller Coldwell lost her shaft, and will have to go on the dry dock. The schooner Lucy Anchard, with a cargo of coal, from Cleveland, lost her deck-load and damaged her sails. The schooner Cornwall, with a cargo of 7,000 bushels of corn from Toledo, for Oswego, is ashore on North Harbor Reef, and full of water. The schooner E. S. J. Bemis, laden with wheat from Milwaukee, was towed into Cleveland in a sinking condition. The propeller Mineral Rock crossed Saginaw Bay during the storm; her gangways were burst in by the force of the waves, and her deck-load and eighteen cattle washed overboard. The schooner Algerine, laden with barley, was sunk at Port Colborne.

The Sunday-school Convention.

Poughkeepsie, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The second day's proceedings of the Sunday school Convention, in this city, was attended by a vast assemblage of people. Black-board lessons, children's hymns and teachers' meetings were the subjects discussed. Eloquent addresses were made by leading divines, and great interest was manifested. During the convention over 300 delegates have been present, and the interchange of sentiments has been general and very instructive. The convention will adjourn at 9:30 this evening. Most of the delegates will remain here until to-morrow.

Accident to the Steamer Prometheus.

Philadelphia, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Arrived steamer Prometheus, Capt. Childs, from New-York for Apalachicola; sailed from New-York, Saturday afternoon last, with an assorted cargo and six passengers.

During a heavy northwest gale, on Sunday morning last, off Cape May, she sprung a leak and put into this port for repairs. She will probably have to discharge her cargo.

Fire at Southboro, Mass.

Boston, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Two large shoe manufactories in Southboro, belonging to Messrs. John Hart & Co., shoe dealers, at No. 114 Pearl-street, in this city, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. Loss about $100,000, on which there is some insurance.

The Movements of President Johnson's Family.

Poughkeepsie, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

President Johnson's family passed through this city to-day on the Hudson River Railroad in a special car, en route to Troy.

GOVERNMENT HORSES.

An Important Order.

Quartermaster-General Meigs has issued the following important order in reference to government horses:

The attention of officers on duty in the several military departments is called to the great number of animals belonging to the United States, in the possession of persons who have no legal title or rightful claim thereto. Such animals will be seized wherever found, and turned over to the nearest Quartermaster. In all cases, upon the affidavit of the parties from whom the property is taken, that they have reason to believe their title valid, and that they will produce evidence to prove it, the property will be retained in custody until a thorough investigation is made. All doubtful cases will be referred to the Quartermaster-General for decision.

All animals which have once belonged to the United States, branded "U. S.;" all those impressed in loyal or disloyal districts; all those captured from the enemy, or any captured by the enemy from the United States, and subsequently sold or disposed of by said enemy, should still be regarded as the property of the United States, and should be seized and retained as such, unless the persons in possession of the same show title thereto by virtue of some authorized government sale, indicated by the brand "I. C.," or "S.," or by the receipt of some duly authorized officer.

The brand "U. S." is prima facie evidence that the animals belong to the government. The brand "U. S.," "I. C.," or "S.," under the name, is prima facie evidence that they have been regularly sold by the United States, and animals thus marked should not be seized, except upon good evidence of fraud. If any person or persons, not an employe of the government, who shall deliver a public horse or mule to the Quartermaster's Department, with affidavit showing whence the property was obtained, or who shall furnish such information as will lead to the restoration of any such property to the possession of the United States, the disbursing officers of the Quartermaster's Department are hereby authorized to pay the sum of $15 for each and every animal thus finally recovered; but this fee shall be paid only after the parties from whom the animals were seized shall have had reasonable time to prove their title, if any, to the same and shall have neglected or failed to do so, and then only on the certificate of the Quartermaster who received the property, who shall certify the day and date the animal is taken up on his return, (abstract M.) with the name of the person from whom the property was taken, and of the person to whom the reward is due. The reward shall not be paid to any person who, having such property in possession, shall voluntarily deliver up the same; but such person shall have the privilege, upon such delivery, of purchasing said property at the actual value of the same, upon application to the nearest military commander.

Special rewards will be paid for the return to the possession of the Quartermaster's Department of any valuable blooded animals belonging to the United States (not exceeding ten per cent. of the value of the animal,) when approved by the Quartermaster-General.

This order is not to be construed as extending to animals which, in certain Southern States, have been, by due authority of military commanders, placed in charge of farmers and planters, to be recruited and used for a time in saving the crops in districts devastated by military operations.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

MEETING OF THE CABINET.

There was a meeting of the Cabinet to-day, being an adjournment from yesterday.

THE NAVAL COURT-MARTIAL.

The naval court-martial for trial of Lieut.-Col. WARD MARSTON, of the U. S. Marine Corps, was convened this afternoon at the Navy Department. The following are the names of the members present: Vice-Admiral Farragut; Rear-Admirals Hiram Paulding, Chas. H. Davis, J. A. Dahlgren, J. G. Misroon; Commodores Thomas Turner, James G. Palmer, John A. Winslow; Capts. S. P. Lee, James Alden, M. Smith; Lieut.-Col. James Edlin; Majors Chas. S. McCauley, H. E. Daniels, Judge Advocate and First-Lieut. F. C. Williams, Provost-Marshal. Rear-Admiral DAHLGREN was absent to attend the funeral of his son, the late Col. DAHLGREN. Commodore MISROON was detailed to attend the court, but was relieved on account of sickness, from which he has since died. The court effected an organization, and adjourned until 12 o'clock to-morrow.

IMPORTANT REDUCTIONS IN FRENCH DUTIES.

Information has been received that the French Government has lowered the duties on raw whalebone, the product of American fisheries; the tariff on the article now being the same as on that imported into France from European countries. This has been done without any application on our part; it is a spontaneous act by that government. This voluntary concession to the United States, though of comparatively small importance, is coupled with other propitious circumstances which encourage the hope that our commercial relations generally with France will soon be placed on a more favorable footing.

PERSONAL.

Judge PATERSON, of Tennessee, United States Senator elect from that State, and his wife, daughter of President JOHNSON, the lady who does the honors at the White House, and their son, with FRANKLIN JOHNSON, aged about 14 years, youngest son of the President, left on Monday night for Vermont, where it is intended to place the boys in a university. The distinguished party were in a special government car attached to the regular through-train from Washington to New-York.

Gov. PARSONS, of Alabama, had an interview with the President to-day.

Ex-Gen. LONGSTREET is stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel in this city.

SOUTHERN MAIL SERVICE.

The proposals for mail service in the States of Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Florida, to commence on the first day of January next, were, this morning, opened in the Contract Office of the Post-office Department according to law. The number is comparatively few; surprisingly so, when it is considered that a large proportion of this service is for mail transportation almost within sight of the capital. We learn, however, that upward of two hundred of the most extensive routes are already in operation, and offices are being daily reopened at the department.

A REVENUE APPOINTMENT.

The President has appointed Col. JOHN TAGGART Internal Revenue Collector for the First District of Pennsylvania, in place of Mr. HARDING, deceased. There were at least twenty other applicants for the position, some of them strongly backed by political influence. Col. TAGGART commanded one of the Pennsylvania regiments during the late war, and for some time past has been connected with the Washington correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer, and is highly esteemed as a courteous and estimable gentleman.

CHANGE IN MILITARY DEPARTMENTS.

By order of the Secretary of War, the State of Wisconsin has been taken from the Military Department of the Missouri, and added to the Department of the Ohio.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

The receipts from internal revenue to-day amounted to $210,063,571.

The receipts at the Internal Revenue Bureau for the month ending yesterday, amounted to $30,457,983 03, being an average per diem of $982,515 58.

RECEIPTS FROM CUSTOMS.

The receipts from customs this month are estimated at $10,000,000 in gold.

THE CASE OF WIRZ.

The papers in the case of WIRZ this evening were placed in the hands of the President for approval or disapproval of findings and judgment of the military commission. Up to the present moment it is not known that the President has disposed of the case.

BOUNTIES TO COLORED SOLDIERS.

Under the late decision of the Attorney-General, allowing bounties to all colored soldiers, a very large sum of money was paid by paymasters, prior to the promulgation of the order of the President, directing that such bounties shall not be paid.

ARMY PAYMENTS.

From official sources we hear that $1,020,000,000 have been paid to the army alone since the beginning of the war.

THE TUNISIAN EMBASSY.

The Tunisian ambassadors to-day visited the freedmen's village and the fortifications of Washington, under the escort of Gen. HASKINS and a detachment of the Fifth Regular Cavalry.

WHAT THE ARMY HAS COST.

It is said that $1,020,000,000 have been paid to the army alone since the commencement of the war.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE.

The United States Consul at Manchester, England, writing to the State Department under date of Oct. 17, reports that as yet there is no abatement of the plague among the cattle, which is mainly confined to horned cattle; but it has, in a few instances, broken out with great violence in flocks of sheep. As there is danger that the disease may be transmitted to America, he suggests that the importation of foreign stock be, for the present, prohibited. By the importation of hides from Russia, the disease is, by many, supposed to have been introduced into England.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Governor of Dakotah writes to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, that there is no doubt of the desire of all Indians in that Territory for peace. The season, however, is too late for making treaties.

THE WORKINGMEN OF WASHINGTON.

The procession of workingmen of this city to-night, was not only large as to numbers but brilliant in appearance. They carried torches and transparencies, with appropriate mottoes, to illustrate the object of their combined movement, viz.: Eight hours for a legal day's work. The line was about a mile in length. It was, perhaps, the largest and most imposing civic procession ever witnessed in Washington. Some of the trades—such as carpenters, gasfitters, boiler and steam engine makers, blacksmiths and painters—gave practical exhibitions of their respective vocations, while the printers worked off a short poem in advocacy of the eight-hour system. A ship, full rigged, with men on board, was among the prominent objects of interest, and was drawn by horses. Thousands of spectators lined the streets through which the procession passed. The workingmen halted before the City Hall, where addresses were delivered to the immense crowd in advocacy of the eight-hour system.

ARKANSAS AFFAIRS.

It seems, from recently received official information, that the reorganization in Arkansas has progressed quietly, and is a success. President JOHNSON has informed the Governor of that State that there will be no interference with its government; and not only does he invite the State to resume its former relations with the Federal Government, but promises it all the aid of the power of the government in the premises.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Hon. JAMES L. ORR, Governor elect of South Carolina, was pardoned some weeks ago, but as that State has not repudiated the rebel debt, she has failed to prepare herself for official recognition as a State loyal to the Union.

THE MURDER ON THE CANAL.—The Schenectady Union, of Monday, gives the following particulars of the murder near that place on Sunday morning:

"The canal boat Allie Clark, Capt. HARRY PUTMAN, en route westward, laid over Saturday night at Bradt's Basin. At 1 o'clock yesterday morning the Captain and cook of the boat were awakened from their sleep by some one exclaiming—'Captain, the boat is loose.' The Captain awoke and went in his night clothes up stairs. Shortly after the cook was standing in the hatchway, and heard some person cry out, 'Jump ashore and get him out.' The cook inquired who was in the canal, and the steersman, coming down stairs, replied, 'a horse is in the canal.' The steersman then asked the cook for the Captain's money. She replied, 'the Captain has his money with him.' 'No, he has not—he wants it,' said the steersman, and then rushed down stairs to the bed-room, where he took possession of the Captain's wallet, containing between two and three hundred dollars. He then rushed up stairs, and the last the cook saw of him he was jumping from the end of the boat to the shore. The cook, thinking all was not right, lit the lamp and searched the boat and found that she was alone. She then screamed for help, but her cries were not heard, and she went to the next boat and aroused the inmates, who immediately instituted a search for the crew of the Allie Clark, but without success. A hatchet was found on the tow-path belonging to the boat. Supposing that a murder had been committed, dragging in the canal was immediately commenced, and the body of the Captain was found yesterday afternoon, between the above named boat and the shore. The Captain's head was cut in a horrid manner across the temple, and tufts of grass were clenched in his hands, thus showing that he had struggled to gain the shore after being thrown into the canal. The murdered man has a wife living at Canastota, Madison County, N. Y."

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

The Recent Gale—Arrival of the Quaker City—John Mitchel—Military Items.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., Tuesday, Oct. 31, 1865.

The steamer Quaker City, of the Messrs. LEARY's line of United States mail steamers, running between New-York and Charleston, S. C., arrived here this morning from the latter place, having been obliged to put in, short of coal. The Quaker City, on her trip from New-York to Charleston, encountered the late heavy gale along the Atlantic coast in all its severity, in the vicinity of Hatteras, and at times was placed in a very critical situation. She suffered, however, no material damage, merely having the bowsprit carried away and the paddle-house considerably stove in. The Captain of the Quaker City, and, indeed, the masters of all the various vessels which have arrived here, more or less damaged by the storm, assert that, within their experience, it was one of the severest gales known for many years along the coast. Tidings of other numerous disasters to the shipping interests will no doubt continue to reach us for days to come. The Quaker City left here for Norfolk, Va., this morning, where she will take on some fifty tons of coal, and will probably sail some time to-night for New-York. Among the passengers are the Captain, Purser, Stewardess and several of the unfortunate shipwrecked passengers of the steamer Republican, wrecked on the Georgia coast, and who succeeded in reaching Charleston, S. C., in one of the small boats, a few days before the Quaker City sailed.

JOHN MITCHEL

having been released from durance vile, yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, took his departure from Fortress Monroe, Va., somewhat informally, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is a question of doubt, if the many travelers, soldiers, civilians, &c., thronging the wharves awaiting the arrival of the mail steamer, at the time JOHN MITCHEL, in an unpretending manner, with simply a light thin overcoat thrown over his shoulders, and a small carpet-bag in hand, was walking up and down the "Baltimore" wharf with impatient, restless steps, and his long, thick hair brushed carelessly back from his forehead, his heavy beard slightly sprinkled with gray, recognized in this comparatively unnoticed personage the notorious Irish chieftain, ex-rebel, and one who is doubtless destined, in the anticipated future Fenian movement, to play no inferior rôle, or second part in the Fenian drama of "Ireland for the Irish." When the steamer Eolus, for Norfolk, Va., arrived, a few moments later, hastily stepping on board, he was lost to the view of the small knots of inquisitive gazers who by this time had become aware of his presence. This morning he left Norfolk on the steamer Thomas A. Morgan, for Richmond, Va.

TWELFTH UNITED STATES INFANTRY.

One hundred and forty men of the Twelfth United States Infantry arrived here this morning from Baltimore, Md., en route to Richmond, Va.

THE THIRD PENNSYLVANIA ARTILLERY,

under the command of Brevet Brig.-Gen. ROBERTS, which has been doing efficient garrison duty in the fortress during the past two years and a half, will shortly be mustered out of the service, in accordance with the general order issued some days since by Lieut.-Gen. GRANT, and which assigned a portion of the Fifth United States Artillery as the garrison of the place. The Third Pennsylvania Artillery, composed of some of the finest material in the State, was principally organized and equipped in Philadelphia, for the special purpose of garrisoning the fortress. Such were the inducements held out by its officers, and others interested in its organization, that its numbers swelled to considerably over 2,000 men at one time. Another regiment, the One Hundred and Eighty-eighth Pennsylvania Infantry, was subsequently formed from it, and performed excellent duty at the front, where it participated in many of the battles, prior to the capture of Richmond. The Third Pennsylvania Artillery marched out of the Fortress this morning to Camp Hamilton, where they will be encamped for the present, preparatory to being sent to Philadelphia, where a gallant reception doubtless awaits them.

S. G. W.

NORTH AND SOUTH.

Interesting Report of an Interview with the President—Southern Estimate of Northern Sentiment.

From the Atlanta Intelligencer, Oct. 27.

We had the pleasure of a visit in our sanctum, yesterday, from Judge O. A. LOCHRANE, who has just returned from a Northern tour. We were pleased to find the Judge in excellent spirits, and hopeful of our early restoration to peace and prosperity. He found in the North, and at Washington, great liberality of sentiment in the minds of the people, and a general disposition to let by-gones be by-gones. The radicals, of course, he found bitter in their denunciations of the Administration and the conciliatory policy it had observed toward the South. Judge LOCHRANE had a long and satisfactory interview with the President, in which the present unfortunate condition of the country was freely discussed. He found the Chief Executive kindly disposed toward us, and determined to stem the current that seeks to overwhelm this unhappy section in ruin. He thinks we have much to hope for at the hands of Mr. JOHNSON, and it becomes us, as a people, to sustain him and his administration fully, manfully, and with a zeal that knows no abatement.

The Judge speaks in the most exalted terms of President JOHNSON and of his magnanimity and justice; he is satisfied that his sole and patriotic purpose is to restore the Union and to establish upon a firmer and broader basis the principles of free government in this land. He throws his soul and heart into the question of pacification, and expects the whole South with unanimity to rally around the policy of justice and equality among the States, which he so impartially and firmly maintains, and to come up manfully to the guarantees of protection and law which the condition of the freedmen demands. The Judge speaks of the kindly sentiments of the Northern people, generally; their desire to forget the past, and to make every overture of friendship and sympathy to our people. They have prospered while we have suffered, and now with capital they propose aiding our fortunes, and lifting us by the hand on a level with themselves. Many capitalists have furnished means to Southern planters to carry on their planting interest, and await the development of the future to be reimbursed. In fact, he knows many instances where the liberality of the North will be felt in its advancement of industrial as well as commercial interests, and the statesmanship of the country sees the necessity of stimulating our cotton products, and will, in the halls of Congress, be felt in advocacy of leaving to our State Legislatures the adoption of laws consistent with the constitution, controlling the labor of the country by protecting contracts from violation, and idleness and vagrancy from the eleemosynary impunity it now has.

He speaks of the great growth of the North and West, their teeming population and overflowing prosperity, and how little injury the war had done to them; and stated his impression of our soon being made to share their confidence by the adoption of just and liberal principles of legislation. The North insists that the freedman shall have legal rights, and these we must give without question. He must have protection, and this the law must provide. On the negro suffrage question, he believes the Free States, both North and West, are gradually yielding to the President's policy of leaving this matter to the States to settle for themselves, and a more conservative spirit is now prevailing and widening day by day. He alluded to the impression that he had favored this doctrine, an impression wholly erroneous. He had never for a moment entertained such an idea, and regretted that he had ever been charged with it. On the whole, the Judge gives us a hopeful view of the condition of the country, and its future prospects; and believes that we will soon return to civil law, and have the Freedmen's Bureau and military rule lifted from us; and in this opinion not only himself but the best men of the North agreed that the day is not far distant when we may be left to govern ourselves.

Judge LOCHRANE traveled from Washington in company with ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS and Judge LINTON STEPHENS. He was gratified at the kindly feelings expressed toward Mr. STEPHENS along the entire route. Warm sympathy for the ex-inmate of Fort Warren pervaded the breasts of all with whom he came in contact, and a full indorsement of the President's magnanimity in restoring him to his friends and to his State.

Mr. STEPHENS left for his home yesterday morning, only remaining over in our city one night. Judge LOCHRANE left for Milledgeville on the train of yesterday afternoon.

Mr. STEPHENS, we are happy to state, is in his usual health.

DEATH OF GEN. SLOCUM'S MOTHER.—Major-Gen. SLOCUM'S mother, Mrs. MARY O. SLOCUM, died in Syracuse on Monday evening. Mr. SLOCUM was born in the City of Albany, and moved with her husband to Onondaga County in 1818. She was 72 years of age. The funeral services were held at the residence of Judge LE ROY MORGAN yesterday afternoon. Gen. SLOCUM is borne down by this irreparable loss, and will not be able to fill any more appointments during this canvass.—Albany Argus, Nov. 2.

To the War Democracy of New York.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: Five years of terrible convulsion and deadly strife have just closed—years replete with anxieties, with agonies, with sorrows, but irradiated by shining examples of patriotic devotion and unfaltering faith. If we loved our country in her previous prosperity and gladness, we have learned to love her better and serve her more zealously by seeing her tried in the furnace of affliction and struggling against thinly-disguised foreign hostility and openly-avowed domestic hate. Poorer in material wealth than she recently was, our country is richer than ever before in the love and admiration of her sons.

Like you, I have not understood how any one cherishing the instincts and familiar with the traditions of Democracy can hesitate as to his duty when invaders or traitors assail his country, slaughter her defenders, and threaten her very existence. Like you, I have felt that the deplorable but conspicuous implication of those who, claiming to be Democrats, had acted with us in past peaceful conflicts around the ballot-box, in the conspiracy which struck at the integrity and the flag of our Union, added emphasis and urgency to the call on every true Democrat to evince by voice and act his undying trust in government by the people. And, like yours, my faith has never faltered—not even in the darkest hours of our tremendous, protracted struggle—in the ultimate and complete triumph of our country over the machinations and the hosts of fearfully misguided and seemingly implacable adversaries.

At last the struggle is ended and the republic victorious. Without concession, without compromise, without stipulation, it is settled, beyond future cavil, that disunion is treason, and secession a nullity. Those who saw fit to appeal from the ballot to the bayonet have been met according to their challenge, and the resulting conflict was only terminated when they cried "enough." That cry vanquished enmity and awakened generosity. The most stupendous civil war in history, closing with the utter discomfiture and surrender of the rebels, is followed by no vindictive bloodshed, no sweeping confiscation; but the great mass of those who were yesterday our enemies are to-day freely welcomed to our confidence and our firesides as fellow-citizens and as friends. And the conversion of virulent rebels into loyal Unionists has not been more sudden or remarkable than the transformation of the envenomed and unmeasured denouncers of our martyred President, as a tyrant, usurper and vulgar buffoon, and of his providential successor as one of the coarsest and vilest of miscreants, into immoderate eulogists of the memory of the former, and exclusive devotees of the administration of the latter. Their denunciations never shook our faith in the patriotism and sagacity of ABRAHAM LINCOLN; their praises shall not weaken our trust in the truth and worth of our own ANDREW JOHNSON. Nothing in the course of this struggle has reflected more honor on our people than the generosity wherewith they have generally hastened to forget and forgive. This magnanimity might be carried to excess. It is noble to forgive injuries; it would be most ungrateful and base to forget those who aided us in warding off the blows aimed at the heart of our country. Let all that has been done to divide and destroy her pass into oblivion; but let not one of those who gave his best exertions and hazarded his life to save her, be forgotten and unhonored. Let us freely restore to rebels all they have forfeited, save that privilege of trampling on the rights of others, which is not ours to bestow. To our country, security and lasting peace; to her defeated assailants, pardon; to her loyal millions, emancipated by their masters' treason and the nation's triumph, complete protection in all the rights and immunities of human beings; such are, in my view, the essential bases of a just and beneficent reconstruction.

If, then, there be those hitherto of us who propose henceforth to act with the party which encouraged the rebellion at the outset, by resolves and assurances of sympathy—which exultingly predicted that it never would nor could be subdued, which opposed and denounced every vigorous measure of resistance to the programme of disunion, but condemned with especial vehemence and unanimity that most necessary and effective proclamation of freedom to those held in slavery by rebels—I wish to be understood as not of their faith. On the contrary, I recognize in the Union party, with which we have gone through this memorable contest, the true essential Democracy, faithful at all times to the republic, faithful now to her defenders, and especially to those who have valiantly passed through the Red Sea of battle to the promised land of liberty. These are the nation's loyal children. The perfection and perpetuation of their freedom is the nation's sacred, imperative duty. The party now seeking to cover with the mantle of Democracy the rottenness of the last Chicago platform repudiates the obligation and denies the duty. I stand with those who desire and demand a reconstruction which shall endure forever, because based on universal and absolute justice; who do not regret but rejoice that the reproach of human bondage is forever removed from this broad land, and that to Congress has been specifically confided the duty of guarding and maintaining the personal liberty of every denizen of these United States. In the faith that this high trust will be nobly fulfilled, and with a firm resolve that to this end no effort on my part shall be wanting, I remain, yours truly,

HIRAM WALBRIDGE.

The Commissioners of Public Charities.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In common with a good many voters, I have been patiently waiting for a reply from the Commissioners of Public Charities to an inquiry made some days ago in your columns, and signed "Tax-payer," about the university they are building at the public expense in the grounds of Bellevue Hospital.

Are the commissioners struck dumb? Or don't they intend to give the tax-payers of the city some light upon the subject?

I am informed that the job has been undertaken for the benefit of a dozen or more hangers-on about the hospital, who expect to make from $2,000 to $6,000 each a year out of it, and who have engaged to pay seven per cent. for the use of the necessary amount of public money.

A university for the treatment of the out-door poor! What a joke! Seven per cent. for the use of the public money!

A railroad down Broadway would doubtless be of service to the out-door poor, and there are plenty of people who will pay seven per cent. for the use of the money necessary to build it.

Are the Commissioners of Public Charities willing to take that job, too?

Come, Messrs. Commissioners, let us have some light on this university for the treatment of the poor, and especially on the seven per cent.

CAVING IN OF AN EMBANKMENT—ONE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER INJURED.—About 5 P. M. yesterday, while some workmen were engaged digging a cellar for a brewery at the corner of Myrtle-avenue and Wyckoff-street, Eastern District, the embankment suddenly caved in, and buried JOHN LOWDENSTEIGER and JOHN ARITZOG. The latter was rescued from death, but he was seriously injured. The body of the former was recovered after some difficulty, and it is supposed that he was instantly killed.

The swan pours out her sweetest song when dying. In like manner, the fragrance of PHALON'S "Night Blooming Cereus" grows more exquisite as it becomes fainter. This is not the case with the ordinary extracts for the handkerchief. Their original scent soon lapses into a decidedly repulsive odor.—New-Haven Palladium.

NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES.

The NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES is published THIS MORNING, and may be had at the counter of the publication office, in wrappers, ready for mailing. Price FIVE CENTS.

In addition to the latest intelligence by telegraph up to the moment of going to press, there will be found in the current number full details of all the interesting news of the day. Also, all official orders, reports and documents, and the latest and fullest Washington news, are given. European news, with graphic letters from our correspondents in London and Paris, giving the tone of public feeling abroad, is made a special and permanent feature. In addition to Editorials on all the current topics of the day, the WEEKLY TIMES has a page of carefully prepared commercial matter, giving the latest financial news and market reports; items of agriculture and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader; and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "WEEKLY RECORD," or news summary—being a careful synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both rebellion and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and conveniently classified form all news of interest, and must prove valuable as a record to all time.

The WEEKLY TIMES will be sent to subscribers in any part of the country on the following terms: One copy one year, $2; three copies one year, $5. Fresh names may at any time be added to Clubs, both of the WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY, at Club rates. Payments invariably in advance.

THE JUDICIARY.

MR. A. C. BRADLEY'S NAME PRESENTED.

The following correspondence explains itself:

BROOKLYN, Oct. 31, 1865.

A. C. Bradley, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: The undersigned, citizens of the Second Judicial District, not satisfied with the candidates for Justice of the Supreme Court already presented, nor with the mode of their presentation, and having confidence in your integrity, and ability to discharge well the duties of that responsible office, respectfully ask that you will allow your name to be presented to the people for it at the ensuing election.

We are, dear Sir, your obedient servants,

GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS,
A. A. LOW,
JOHN L. SPADER,
EDWARD CROMWELL,
L. B. WYMAN,
J. D. FISH,
SILAS B. DUTCHER,
CHARLES W. NEWTON,
HUGH ALLEN,
And over two hundred others.

NEW-YORK, Nov. 1, 1865.

To Messrs. George W. Curtis, A. A. Low, and others:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of the 31st ult., asking me to allow my name to be presented to the people for Justice of the Supreme Court in the Second District, at the ensuing election. The character of the signers of the note is such as to render it proper that, with whatever reluctance on my part, I should assent to the request, not intending, however, further than this, to take any part in the canvass, or in any manner whatever to aid in securing an election.

Thanking you for the courteous terms in which your request is conveyed,

I remain, gentlemen, your obedient servant

ALVIN C. BRADLEY.

Bought and sold by
TAYLOR BROS., No. 17 Wall-st.

CANADIAN OIL REGION,
BOTHWELL, CANADA WEST.
PUBLIC SALE OF ABOUT 1,200 ACRES
CHOICE OIL LANDS, WITH OIL WELLS.

The BOTHWELL LAND AND PETROLEUM COMPANY, commonly called the "Scotch Company," owning the town of Bothwell and 6,000 acres of land around it, will offer for sale, by auction, 1,200 acres of their choicest territory, with the view of attracting oil operators to the fuller development of this important oil region.

The lands to be sold immediately adjoin the Pepper or Boston, Lick, Colville, Victoria, and all the other yielding oil wells in the district. They embrace the well-known Chambers and Thames yielding wells, also others which are now being put down. They are all within two miles of the railway station and town of Bothwell, and front on the River Thames and the Longwood road. They comprise Lots Nos. 13, 14, 15, River Range; Lots Nos. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, Longwood Road Range; and Lot No. 12 on the Tenth Concession. All in the Township of Zone, County of Kent.

Bothwell is a rapidly increasing town, and has hotels, machine and blacksmiths' shops, and all conveniences for supplying the wants of operators. It is a principal station on the Great Western or Canada Railway, which runs from Detroit to Niagara Falls, and is reached in 24 hours from New-York, and 14 hours from Chicago by express trains twice each way daily.

The lands will be put up for sale in lots of from 5 to 25 acres, a road allowance being provided to each lot.

A deposit of 20 per cent. will be required on purchase, 30 per cent. within one month, and the balance in four quarterly installments of 12½ per cent. each. For the deposit of 20 per cent., American Government or first-class State or railway bonds to an adequate amount will be taken as security instead of cash, until the buyers have time to convert. This will render it unnecessary for buyers from the United States to be provided with Canadian funds until after they actually purchase.

The sale will take place at BOTHWELL, on THURSDAY, 23D NOVEMBER,
at 11 o'clock, forenoon.

Intending purchasers are invited to inspect the lands. All further particulars can be had, and plans of the property as subdivided for sale can be seen, at the office of the company, Bothwell.

PROPOSALS.

OFFICE DEPOT COMMISSARY OF SUBSISTENCE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31, 1865.
SALE OF HARD BREAD.
SEALED PROPOSALS, in duplicate, will be received at this office, until 12 M., on THURSDAY, Nov. 9, 1865, for the surplus HARD BREAD,
at this and the Alexandria depots. The bread is packed in boxes of fifty (50) pounds each, and can be examined at 6th-st. wharf, in this city, or at the Subsistence Storehouse in Alexandria, Va. No bids will be received for less than twenty (20) boxes—one thousand (1,000) pounds. The price per pound and quantity desired will be stated in each proposal. It will be placed on transports in Alexandria, Va., or at 6th-st. wharf, free of expense to the purchaser. Twenty thousand boxes (50 pounds each,) more or less, can be purchased.

The attention of shippers, and others using pilot bread, is called to the advantages now offered for obtaining their supplies of this article.

The government reserves the right to reject bids.

Bidders not present will be notified by letter of the result of their proposals. All purchases will be removed within twenty days from the date of their acceptance.

Blank proposals, if desired, can be obtained from the undersigned.

Terms—Cash, in government funds, before the delivery commences.

STEAMER FOR SALE.

NAVY-YARD, NEW-YORK, Nov. 1, 1865.

Proposals will be received until the 14th of November, 1865, for the sale of the United States steamer WANDO, now lying at the Navy-yard, New-York.

This ship is built of iron, about 226 feet long, 26 feet beam, 11 feet 5 inches depth.

She has two oscillating engines; diameter of cylinder 52 inches, length of stroke 4 feet, tubular boilers and feathering paddle wheels.

She is a prize vessel, bought by government for $121,000. Her engines alone are said to have cost that amount. She has the reputation of being very fast; would make a first-rate mail steamer, or trader to ports where light draft steamers are necessary.

Terms—Twenty per cent., when the terms are agreed upon, and the remainder within six days, when the vessel must removed from the yard.

CHICKERING & SONS,

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS are sole agents for the celebrated Alexandre Organs for the United States.

THE MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.—FORTY-FIVE GOLD or SILVER MEDALS or OTHER HIGHEST PREMIUMS have been awarded M & H, within a few years, and TEN within the last four weeks, for THE BEST INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS.

Printed testimony is presented in their circulars from more than two hundred and fifty of the most eminent organists and musicians in the country that THE MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS ARE UNEQUALED. Prices, $110 to $600. Warerooms No. 596 Broadway, New-York.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GRAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES,

are now acknowledged the best instruments in America as well as in Europe, having taken thirty-two First Premiums, Gold and Silver Medals, at the principal fairs held in this country within the last ten years, and in addition thereto they were awarded a First Prize Medal at the Great International Exhibition in London, 1862, in competition with two hundred and sixty-nine pianos, from all parts of the world.

Among the many and most important improvements introduced by Messrs. STEINWAY & SONS in their pianos,

THE SPECIAL ATTENTION OF PURCHASERS is directed to their PATENT AGRAFFE ARRANGEMENT.

The value and importance of this invention having been practically tested, in their grands and highest-priced square Piano-fortes, and admitted to be the greatest improvement of modern times, Messrs. STEINWAY & SONS announce that they have determined to introduce their "Patent Agraffe Arrangement" in every Piano-forte manufactured by them, without increase of cost to the purchaser, in order that all their patrons may reap the full advantage of this great improvement.

Extract from the testimonial of the most distinguished Artists to STEINWAY & SONS:

Among the chief points of the uniform excellence of the STEINWAY Pianos are:

Greatest possible depth, richness and volume of tone, combined with a rare brilliancy, clearness and perfect evenness throughout the entire scale, and, above all, a surprising duration of sound, the pure and sympathetic quality of which never changes under the most delicate or powerful touch.

We therefore consider the STEINWAY Pianos in all respects the best instruments made in this country or in Europe, use them solely and exclusively ourselves in public or private, and recommend them invariably to our friends and the public.

CHAMBERS & GABLER, No. 14 6th-st.

THE "PELOUBET ORGANS," Awarded by the American Institute, Oct. 19, 1865, a GOLD MEDAL, were at the Fair of the Institute, just closed, first exhibited, and there put in direct competition with the Cabinet Organs of Mason & Hamlin. After a contest lasting more than five weeks they came off triumphantly victorious, being pronounced by leading musicians, critics and amateurs superior, both in manuals and pedals, in quality, variety and power of tone, and in number of combinations. Critically examined by a jury composed of Appleton, of Boston, and Jardine of New-York, organ builders; Berge, the well-known organist and director; Seymour, critic, and Dr. Ringer, organist and expert, they were awarded a Gold Medal as the best instruments of their class, or as expressed, "for the best Cabinet Organ, made by PELOUBET & SON." Thus indorsed, these Organs and Melodeons are offered as unsurpassed for Churches, Parlors or Schools. Price lists forwarded. General depot, J. M. PELTON, No. 841 Broadway, N. Y.

THE HORACE WATERS GRAND, SQUARE and upright pianos, melodeons, harmoniums and cabinet organs, wholesale and retail, at reduced prices. To let, and rent allowed if purchased. Monthly payments received for the same. Second-hand pianos at bargains, from $60 to $225. Factory and warerooms, No. 481 Broadway. Cash paid for second-hand pianos. Pianos tuned and repaired, boxed and shipped.

THE METROPOLITAN POLICE MACHINE.

Democratic Primary Election Troubles—Tribulations of Alderman Ternan—Basket of Champagne—Owner Wanted—Miscellaneous Police Trials.

BEFORE COMMISSIONERS ACTON, BERGEN AND M'MURRAY.

Among the gentlemen who attended police trials on Wednesday were Hon. FREDERICK A. CONKLING, Inspector Folk and Supervisor Herman, of Brooklyn, and Messrs. Henry R. McMurray, Garret G. Bergen and Henry B. Asten. The commissioners dispatched the sixty-nine cases of the day with uncommon rapidity, and rose before 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Of the charges against officers of the Metropolitan force, not one was for an alleged capital offence, and but few resulted in anything more serious than a fine of one day's pay—a circumstance which is disheartening to the trustees of the Metropolitan Police Life-Insurance Fund, inasmuch as the day's work did not yield so much money as they are daily paying to a score of policemen's widows and children. Brooklyn was the central figure throughout the trials, and supplied a sensation that, up to the time of calling Alderman RICHARD TERNAN's case against Sergt. JOHN MATTHEWS and JOHN EICHHORN, was seriously needed to vary the monotony of the proceedings. President ACTON was in hilarious mood, and manifestly had anticipated a treat in meeting the Laureate of Brooklyn politics and poesy face to face; but, unhappily, TERNAN did not appear. The accused policemen responded promptly to the call, and were catechized closely. Had they promised to vote for TERNAN if he would stay away—had they promised to work for him on or before the day of election, or to give him any money for election purposes, or had their friends made any promises for them, if TERNAN would suffer the complaint to fall by default? They had not. "Then," said Mr. ACTON, "let us hear your own story, and get this case off the calendar." The complaint papers showed that, despite Mr. BERGEN's advice, early in October, ex-Alderman RICHARD TERNAN, of Wyckoff-street, Brooklyn, made affidavit that on the afternoon of the 4th, Sergt. MATTHEWS and Patrolman EICHHORN, of the Fiftieth Precinct, took active part in a Democratic primary election, and, while in full police uniform, strove to influence citizens to cast certain ballots which they were peddling, and that Officer EICHHORN arrested, without provocation, a man who was about to cast an adverse ballot. The defence was that the officers did nothing of the kind; and to establish this fact they summoned Supervisor HERMAN, of Brooklyn, and he deposed that on the night of the 4th ultimo MATTHEWS and EICHHORN had been assigned the herculean task of preserving order at a Democratic primary; that certain persons had attempted to vote, who, upon being asked whether they had ever supported Democratic nominees, had bidden the Inspectors take up their respective abodes in Hades; that the Inspectors had therefore rejected their proffered ballots and commanded them to leave the room, and that on their refusal to obey, the Inspectors had requested Officers MATTHEWS and EICHHORN to eject the intruders. Supervisor HERMAN furthermore added that the officers neither voted nor took any part in the primary election, but merely obeyed the Inspectors' instructions and strove to preserve the peace. Under this conclusive testimony President ACTON dismissed the complaint, and the officers were about to depart, when Commissioner BERGEN recalled them and the witness who had cleared them, and something came out concerning that found its way, mysteriously, about two years ago, into Mr. BERGEN's cellar. This champagne has been handled quite freely by political gossipers over the river recently, and Mr. BERGEN has thought it advisable to get a statement from Supervisor HERMAN, showing that no Commissioner of Police resident in Brooklyn was ever treated with Alderman TERNAN's choice brand of "DICK" NEWMAN's champagne. From Supervisor HERMAN's statement it appears that while TERNAN was Alderman he recommended several citizens for appointment on the police force, that one of his appointees—FARRELL, by name—passed the surgeons and was made a patrolman in Brooklyn; that subsequently TERNAN ordered a basket of "DICK" NEWMAN's best champagne, and sent the same to Commissioner BERGEN's dwelling; that TERNAN next collected [illegible] from FARRELL in payment for the wine, and that after FARRELL had paid TERNAN's wine bill the Police Commissioners accepted his resignation. Mr. BERGEN says that the wine was received by his family, from whom they did not know; that he told them to deposit it in the cellar and await the event; that when he ascertained whence it came he notified the donor that no Police Commissioner could accept a gratuity; that TERNAN wrote expressing his regrets, but that he had not to this day sent for the wine, and that it now lies intact in Commissioner BERGEN's cellar, always ready for delivery to Ex-Officer FARRELL, [illegible] that he paid the wine bill. The TERNAN case having been dismissed, the subject of

was introduced by Mr. JOSEPH H. PRICHARD, of No. 8 Veranda-place, Brooklyn, [illegible] Mr. PRICHARD, whom Policeman [illegible] TOOLE, of the [illegible] Precinct, arrested for intoxication on the evening of the 17th ult., [illegible] the officer, in making the arrest, struck him with a baton without cause. Messrs. PATRICK [illegible], of No. 39 Columbia-street, South Brooklyn, and [illegible] CHADWICK, of No. 5 Veranda-place, testified that they witnessed the clubbing, and as the officer had no witness his own testimony was taken, as follows: "The complainant had been in a drunken row in [illegible] house near the ferry, and I took him into custody for intoxication; I took him across the street, when several of his friends interfered and tried to get him away; I thereupon arrested one of them, and experienced some difficulty in getting along with both men; PRICHARD, being very much in liquor, addressed me profanely, and, in walking, in going toward the station-house, he stumbled; while I was attempting to raise him my baton fell against his face." President ACTON sustained Officer TOOLE, and admonished Mr. PRICHARD, advising him to become a total-abstinence man.

MISCELLANEOUS TRIALS.

Patrolman BENJAMIN BATES, of the Twelfth Precinct, who acquitted himself handsomely last week, appeared before the commissioners again on Wednesday, and failed to make a favorable impression. The charge, which had been preferred by Roundsman CRAWFORD, recited that on the evening of the 20th ultimo, BATES was off post and under the influence of liquor, and when accosted by the roundsman he retorted in profane and abusive language. BATES confessed that the roundsman had found him off post, and cautioned him, saying: "BATES, you have a large family, and ought to be more careful; you're drunk." BATES replied that he did not ask CRAWFORD to support his family, and that he was not under the influence of liquor; but he did not, according to his own oath, indulge in the language imputed to him, and he introduced Capt. BENNETT and Sergt. GRAHAM, of the Twelfth Precinct, to testify that he was not intoxicated at the time specified in Roundsman CRAWFORD's affidavit, and they so testified, but they could not swear that BATES was not under the influence of liquor, and as he admitted that he had taken a glass of porter at home, the commissioners thought it possible that, in a moment of excitement, BATES might have used language which he does not now remember. That glass of porter will cost the officer a day at least.

Officer JAMES L. WALDRON, of the Forty-fourth Precinct, until recently an officer attached to one of the Brooklyn courts, but now doing patrol duty in Capt. WADDY's precinct, was accused by the Captain of absenting himself from duty, without leave, on the 16th ultimo. Patrolman WALDRON, defending, assured the Commissioners that he could show, by thirteen witnesses, that he had given Sergt. WRIGHT a surgeon's card, certifying that he had been taking blue pills, and was, therefore, unfit to go out on post duty. The patrolman added that Sergt. WRIGHT had omitted to note his "sick card" on the blotter at the station-house, and that thus Capt. WADDY had been led to suppose that he had absented himself without leave. The commissioners, having taken the impression that WALDRON, not fancying a patrolman's duty, had sought to evade it, advised him not to subpena his thirteen witnesses, but to rest the case with the board, and he elected so to do, thus getting off, probably, with a fine of one day.

Two trivial charges—of being seen coming out of a liquor-store, and of conversing 15 minutes with a woman while on post—having been entered against Patrolman ROBERT CARR, of the Nineteenth Precinct, Capt. HARTT appeared to defend the officer as one of the best men in his precinct. CARR admitted that the charge had been made truly, but said that he had been called into the liquor-store to look at a counterfeit bill, and the lady with whom he had conversed had desired information; he gave it and walked on. Capt. HARTT informed the board that CARR had saved the life of a citizen of Yorkville, and on hearing this statement the commissioners were constrained to save CARR.

Patrolman MATTHEW QUINN, of the Seventeenth Precinct, having been found by Roundsman DERMOTT drinking a glass of weiss-bier, was informed by the commissioners that Irishmen should not indulge in German beverages, and that possibly Treasurer McMURRAY might "put a stamp on that glass of weiss," making it cost one day's pay.....Officer MOSES P. TROUT, of the Eleventh Precinct, having omitted to arrest a young man at the intersection of Goerck and Rivington streets, after Roundsman LYNCH had ordered him to make the arrest, was notified that probably the Treasurer might have a word with him. One day.

Roundsman McEVOY accused Patrolman JOHN F. BRADLEY of being off post in a liquor-store on the morning of the 21st ultimo, and the officer justified by saying that he had been into the store to defend the bar-keeper against the assault of two river thieves. Under this showing, the complaint fell.

Sergt. JOHN McELWAIN, of the Twenty-third Precinct, having made affidavit that at about midnight on the 9th ultimo he was assaulted at Peck-slip by a gang of thieves; that he summoned Patrolman BARTHOLOMEW HOGAN, of the Fourth Precinct, and that he paid no attention to the call for aid. HOGAN attempted to make defence on two successive trial days, but at length resigned.....Capt. OLIVER B. LEICH, of the Forty-ninth Precinct, having charged that Patrolman ALFRED [illegible] had absented himself five days, and the officer not appearing to defend, the commissioners dismissed him.....On Capt. ENOCH JACOBS' charge that Officer ISAAC S. BOURNE had been guilty of disorderly conduct in the sitting-room of the Forty-second Precinct Police-station, the officer resigned.

THE NAVAL DOCK RACE.

On account of Mr. FORBES refusing to allow the engines of the Algonquin to run at the dock for another 96 hours' trial, there will not be any further contest of this kind on the part of the Algonquin. It is the intention of Mr. ISHERWOOD to run the Winooski for 96 hours some time during next week. This trial will not have any reference to the Algonquin, it being merely an experimental trial in which Mr. ISHERWOOD expects to elucidate more fully the merits of the Winooski's engines. It is not definitely decided when the sea race between the vessels will take place, but it is presumed that it will come off as soon as the Algonquin can be put in proper trim.

The Third District Union Association.

No. 114 WARREN-STREET, Wednesday, Nov. 1, 1865.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I notice an article in your paper of this morning, (under the head of City Politics,) that the Third District Union Association repudiated the action of the delegates elected by the association to the Assembly Convention nominating CHARLES RILEY for Assembly, and nominated A. J. PLUMB. This is not the case; the association ratified the nomination of the delegates, nominating CHAS. RILEY as the only candidate of the Union party of the district, as you and the electors of the district will perceive by the advertisement in the daily papers. Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. LUTHILL,
President of the Union Association of the Third Assembly District, New-York.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

NEW STEAMSHIP.—The fine new steamship Henry Chauncey, sails for Aspinwall at noon to-day, with 300 cabin passengers, the Fourteenth United States Infantry, numbering 500 men, and a full steerage. The Chauncey was built by Mr. WM. H. WEBB, and launched in November last. She is 336 feet in length, 43 feet in breadth, and measures 3,300 tons. Her engines, which were built at the Novelty Works, have 105-inch cylinders. Her water tanks hold 20,000 gallons, and she can condense 3,500 gallons daily, and her pumping machinery, equipment in life-boats, &c., are like those of her consort, the Colorado, a description of which appeared in the TIMES several months ago. The Chauncey's officers are: Captain, A. G. GREY; First Officer, C. G. Haywood; Second Officer, R. Thomas; Third Officer, H. Sergeant; Purser, C. Mallory; Surgeon, W. F. Cushman; Storekeeper, L. Jerome; Chief-Engineer, J. K. Matthews.

BUST OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—A very fine bust of the late President is now on exhibition at GOUPIL's art gallery, in Broadway. It is the work of Prof. PIO FEDI, of Florence, Italy, and has just arrived here. The bust was ordered some time ago by Messrs. ZANNONI, PANDOFFINI & Co., of this city, who requested their correspondent, Mr. F. GIOVANNONI, of Volterra, to intrust the work to some artist of reputation. Signor FEDI, whose "Ravishment of Polissena" had just been completed, was selected for the task, and the general opinion appears to be that it could not have been intrusted to abler hands. Signor FEDI had only a small photograph of Mr. LINCOLN to work from, yet he has nevertheless succeeded in producing, in the opinion of many who knew the late President, a most life-like representation of the original.

THE SEVENTH REGIMENT.—The officers of this regiment will assemble at the Armory, for military instruction, on Saturday, Nov. 4, at 8 o'clock P. M., and on Saturday of each alternate week thereafter during the present year, at same hour and place. The sergeants will assemble at the Armory, for military instruction, on Saturday, Jan. 13, 1866, at 8 o'clock P. M., and on Saturday of each alternate week thereafter, until the close of the drill season, at the same hour and place. Drills by battalion of two companies will commence on Monday, Nov. 13, and be continued weekly during the drill season. The sergeant-major, sergeant standard-bearers, the right and left general guides, and the color corporals, will report to the Adjutant at all drills by battalion of two companies.

THE NOMINATION IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT, BROOKLYN.—A number of prominent gentlemen, residing in the Second Judicial District of Brooklyn, have requested Mr. A. C. BRADLEY to allow himself to be nominated for Justice of the Supreme Court in place of the present nominee. The correspondence on the subject will be found in another column.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Yesterday afternoon, Mr. JAMES MANNING, of No. 326 Pearl-street, dropped on the sidewalk in Chambers-street, near Centre, and suddenly expired. Patrolman PHELAN, of the Sixth Precinct, took the body to the Franklin-street police-station. Mr. MANNING was 60 years of age.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.—Rev. J. C. FLETCHER, recently arrived from Brazil, will address the Chamber of Commerce to-day, at 1 o'clock, on matters relating to that country. Mr. FLETCHER will, also, introduce to the chamber the newly-appointed Brazilian Minister, Señor D'AZAMBUJA.

"HOW SHALL WE STUDY THE BIBLE?"—The Young Men's Bible Class of the New-York Young Men's Christian Association, at No. 161 Fifth-avenue, which opens this evening, will consider this subject at the first meeting. The class is to be conducted by Rev. D. STUART DODGE.

LECTURE ON AUSTRALIA.—A native of Australia, Mr. JOHN HOLDEN, will deliver a lecture on "Australia: Its Wonderful Peculiarities, Climate, Productions, the Aborigines, its Society, Gold Fields," &c., at the Hall of the Cooper Union, this evening.

CHOLERA QUARANTINE.—GOV. FENTON has expressed his intention of joining with the Health Commissioners and others in their application to the government for a site for the detention of passengers arriving here suffering from cholera.

ALL SOULS' DAY.—To-day the great festival of All Souls will be celebrated by the Catholics throughout the world. A solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's Cathedral at 10 A. M.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

DISCOVERY OF A COUNTERFEITING DEN—DIES, PLATES AND CHEMICALS SEIZED BY THE POLICE AND ARREST OF ONE OF THE GUILTY PARTIES.—A manufactory of counterfeit United States postal currency and greenbacks was recently discovered in the vicinity of Newtown, Queens County, by Inspector FOLK and detectives attached to his office. It appears that about two months since a party of five Italians rented a two-story frame house, about one mile from the village, which they have since occupied. As there were no women about the place the neighbors grew suspicious and thought there must be something wrong. A noise similar to that made by a sewing machine was frequently heard. Three savage dogs were kept on the premises, and very few persons cared to visit their new neighbors. It was also ascertained that they had two guns and a revolver, which were constantly loaded and placed in such positions that they could be easily reached. It was likewise discovered that the farmers in the vicinity were relieved of considerable quantities of corn, beans, &c., and taken all together, it was deemed proper to inform the authorities. Accordingly, on Thursday of last week, a delegation waited upon Inspector FOLK, and related all the circumstances within their knowledge. The Inspector visited the place, and becoming satisfied that all was not right, made preparations for a more thorough examination. Accordingly, on Monday night last, he proceeded to Newtown with nearly his whole detective force. Arriving at the house some time before daylight on Tuesday morning, they rapped at the door, but receiving no answer, forced their way inside. Ascending to the second story they found a man asleep. He was soon awakened, however, and made aware of the object of their visit. The sole occupant of the premises feigned ignorance, but had sufficient self-possession and knowledge of the English language to make them understand he was engaged there as cook. As for anything else he knew nothing. The officers then proceeded to the garret, where they found a quantity of note paper (blank) and a number of cords stretched across from beam to beam, which they inferred were used to dry the paper after printing. A lot of chemicals, red and green land, gold dust of superior quality, and instruments used by engravers, were found in the closets. They then descended to the cellar, and observed new ground which had apparently been taken from the garden. Procuring the necessary implements, they dug down about two feet, when they struck some wooden boxes, all carefully wrapped up in cloths. Exhuming these they discovered a small printing-press, and a large number of plates and dies. Several plates contain 42 dies, each of 25 cents postal currency. Other plates were engraved for $5 and some for $20 greenbacks, and still others for 50 cents postal currency and $50 Treasury notes. The engraving had been obliterated on some of the plates, but the 25-cent dies were perfect, and of superior workmanship. From the appearance of the dies it is believed that impressions taken from them cannot be distinguished from the genuine. No printed bills were found, but from the amount of paper cinders in the stoves, (of which there were two) it is believed that the manufactured bills still on hand had been burned so as to destroy all the evidences possible of the guilt of the counterfeiters. With this view the plates were defaced, but it seems they had not the requisite time to finish the job. The parties doubtless had an intimation of what was going on, and made preparations accordingly. The principals left the neighborhood the previous day and are still at large. The man arrested gave his name as GIOVANNI GUCCHERI. Some of the officers believe him to be one of the party who were, some months since, arrested on the charge of being implicated in the murder of ANTONIO DIODATI, but he denies it. He was brought to Brooklyn, and is now confined in the Forty-first Precinct Station-house. The press, and all other materials seized, are in possession of the Inspector of Police, where they will remain until demanded by the United States authorities.

ROBBERY ON A CITY RAILROAD CAR.—About 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening, Mr. J. L. OVERFIELD, a lawyer doing business at No. 710 Broadway, New-York, and residing at No. 18 St. Felix-street, this city, was robbed of a gold watch valued at $100, while riding on the platform of one of the city railroad cars. He saw a fellow take the watch and pursued him, but being tripped, the thief got the start. The pursued and pursuer ran round the car several times, when some confederates (doubtless) caught hold of Mr. OVERFIELD's coat, and earnestly asked him what the matter was. The thief meantime made his escape. Mr. O. struck one of the men who retarded his progress with a cane, when the fellow drew a knife, and hostilities ceased. Although "Stop thief" was frequently cried, the passengers remained indifferent, believing that the men were having their own fun. The robbery occurred in Fulton-street, opposite Hicks.

KING'S COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The board met yesterday afternoon, but the business transacted was unimportant. An application from FRANCIS McNEELEY, Keeper of the Penitentiary, was presented for an increase of salary, from $1,500 to $2,000 a year. The subject was laid over until next meeting. JAMES McCAULEY was appointed engineer of the penitentiary at a salary of $900 a year. A communication from the Superintendents of the Poor was presented, in which they ask for some improvements in their apartments in the new court-house, with the view of admitting applicants for relief, by a rear entrance instead of through the main hall, as at present. The subject was referred to the Court-house Committee, shortly after which the board adjourned.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Highway robberies are becoming of almost nightly occurrence in this city. About 12 o'clock on Tuesday night, Capt. BURROUGHS, of the United States Marine Corps, was assailed by three fellows, while passing the City Park, on his way to the Barracks. One of them pretended to protect him from the violence of the other two, while at the same time he was exploring the Captain's pockets, and took therefrom a gold watch and chain, valued at $200. Having accomplished their object, they took to their heels, and that was the last seen of them.

THE RECENT JAIL DELIVERY.—Judge DIKEMAN, of the Kings County Court of Sessions, yesterday morning, took occasion to charge the Grand Jury to make particular inquiry into the late escape of prisoners from the County Jail, and to summon any witnesses necessary, in order to make special investigations whether any keeper, under-keeper, or attaché of the jail ever allowed prisoners, or any of them, to leave the institution for any purpose, or accompanied them if ever thus allowed to be absent from the premises of the jail.

FATAL EMBANKMENT ACCIDENT.—Last evening, about 5 o'clock, two men engaged in excavating a cellar near WELLS' brewery, corner of Myrtle-avenue and Wyckoff-avenue, were buried beneath the embankment, which gave way. One of them, named JOHN LOUDENSLAGER, was killed and the other, named JOHN HERTZOG, sustained a fracture of one of his legs.

ESTATE OF THE LATE E. M. ROBINSON.—The estate of the late EDWARD MOTT ROBINSON is inventoried at $5,700,000; and the estimate of the appraisers is undoubtedly a low one. The amount given to his daughter, the contestant in the will case set down for trial at the November Term of the Supreme Court, in this city, is $910,000 in cash, and a parcel of real estate in San Francisco valued at $90,000, together with the profits and interest of the residue, $4,700,000. By the express terms of the will, the rents, interest and profits are to be paid over by the trustees to the daughter, without any direction, interference or control of her husband—if she should have one. Miss ROBINSON must, therefore, have from her father's estate the comfortable income of at least $350,000. By her aunt's will, which she now seeks to set aside, she is entitled to the interest of at least $1,000,000 more, making her total income over $400,000. What munificent charities might the possessor of such an income dispense!—New-Bedford Mercury.

GEN. HOOD.

His Last Campaign in Tennessee.

Correspondence of the Montreal Herald.

ON BOARD STEAMER CLINTON,
AT SEA, Oct. 9, 1865.

At 2 o'clock P. M. this boat left Galveston on its way to the North. Over the green waves it sped, with thundering paddles, and a flock of young screaming gulls in chase, to pick up anything we might drop. As the boat left the land behind, we (the passengers) began to look at each other, and my eyes rested upon a man seated on a chair, with a crutch beside him, and with his looks bent upon the sea. This was J. B. HOOD, late General of the C. S. A. His dress was a suit of blue flannel, with a black felt hat. On his left hand he wore a kid glove, and his person was very neat. With no little interest I went up to him, and looked at his features. His face is oval and fair, his eyes light blue and steady, and his hair brown, while a long, light brown beard falls from his chin. In person he is tall and well made, and his look is quiet, cool, and considerate. His age is only 34 years. His quiet look led me to speak to him, of which I was very desirous. I first talked of the boat we were in, and the sea, then referred to the late war and his campaign in Tennessee. He said that very little was known about the merits of that campaign, for his report saw light only at the break-up of the Confederacy. His plan was to push into Kentucky and there to increase and supply his army. "If I had been able to do so," said the ex-General, "I would have had ninety thousand men, and, with that force, could have met any army sent against me." It was necessary for him to go on, he said, for the men were losing spirit by falling, and only some bold effort could reanimate them. It was with this view that he strove to defeat the army under Gen. THOMAS; "and," said he, "I ought to have had him at Spring Hill, but some of my officers failed me." In acting against the line of supply of our army, the Ex-General sent a force of 4,500 cavalry to break up the railroad. This force found the road covered by a line of strong block-houses, each with a cistern inside, and a garrison of 50 men. These were so safe for a time that, to use his words, "the cavalry could do nothing with them," though they took a few by display of force. Time was necessary to reduce the block-houses, and that was wanting. The effort made by the Ex-General to defeat the force under Gen. THOMAS is described by him as follows. I must first say that the army of the former left Florence on the 21st of November, 1864, to begin the movement, and that Gen. THOMAS fell back on the 23d upon Columbia:

"The want of a good map of the country, and the deep mud through which the army marched, prevented our overtaking the enemy before he reached Columbia; but on the evening of the 27th of November, our army was placed in position in front of his works at that place. During the night, however, he evacuated the town, taking position on the opposite side of the river, about a mile and a half from the town, which was considered quite strong in front. Late in the evening of the 28th of November, Gen. FORREST, with most of his command, crossed Duck River a few miles above Columbia, and I followed early on the morning of the 29th, with STEWART's corps, CHEATHAM's corps, and JOHNSON's division of LEE's corps, leaving the other divisions of LEE's corps in the enemy's front at Columbia. The troops moved in light marching order, with only a battery to the corps, my object being to turn the enemy's flank by marching rapidly on roads parallel to the Columbia and Franklin pike, at or near Spring Hill, and to cut off that portion of the enemy at or near Columbia. When I had gotten well on his flank, the enemy discovered my intention, and began to retreat on the pike toward Spring Hill. The cavalry became engaged near that place about midday, but his trains were so strongly guarded that they were unable to break through them. About 4 P. M., our infantry forces, Major-Gen. CHEATHAM in the advance, commenced to come in contact with the enemy, about two miles from Spring Hill, through which place the Columbia and Franklin pike runs. The enemy was at this time moving rapidly along the pike, with some of his troops formed on the flank of his column to protect it. Maj.-Gen. CHEATHAM was ordered to attack the enemy at once, vigorously, and get possession of this pike; and, although these orders were frequently and earnestly repeated, he made but a feeble and partial attack, failing to reach the point indicated. Had my instructions been carried out there is no doubt that we could have possessed ourselves of this road. STEWART's corps and JOHNSON's division were arriving upon the field to support the attack. Though the golden opportunity had passed at daylight, I did not at dark abandon the hope of dealing the enemy a heavy blow. Accordingly, Lieut.-Gen. STEWART was furnished a guide, and ordered to move his corps beyond CHEATHAM's and place it across the road beyond Spring Hill. Shortly after this Gen. CHEATHAM came to my headquarters, and when I informed him of STEWART's movement, he said that STEWART ought to form on his right. I asked if that would throw STEWART across the pike. He replied that it would, and a mile beyond. Accordingly one of CHEATHAM's staff officers was sent to show STEWART where his (CHEATHAM's) right rested. In the dark and confusion STEWART did not succeed in getting the position desired, but about 11 P. M. went into bivouac. About 12 P. M., ascertaining that the enemy was moving in great confusion—artillery wagons and troops intermixed—I sent instructions to Gen. CHEATHAM to advance a heavy line of skirmishers against him and still further impede and confuse his march. This was not accomplished. The enemy continued to move along the road in hurry and confusion, within hearing, nearly all the night. Thus was lost a great opportunity of striking the enemy, for which we had labored so long, the greatest this campaign had offered, and one of the greatest during the war. Lieut.-Gen. LEE, left in front of the enemy at Columbia, was instructed to press the enemy the moment he abandoned his position at that point. The enemy did not abandon his works at that place till dark, showing that his trains obstructed the road for fifteen miles during the day and a great part of the night. At daylight we followed as fast as possible toward Franklin, Lieut.-Gen. STEWART in the advance, Major-Gen. CHEATHAM following, and Lieut.-Gen. LEE with the trains, moving from Columbia on the same road. We pursued the enemy rapidly, and compelled him to burn a number of wagons. He made a feint as if to give battle on the hills about four miles south of Franklin, but as soon as our forces began to deploy for the attack; and to flank him on his left, he retired slowly to Franklin. I learned from dispatches captured at Spring Hill, from THOMAS to SCHOFIELD, that the latter was instructed to hold that place till the position at Franklin could be made secure, indicating the intention of THOMAS to hold Franklin and his strong works at Murfreesborough. Thus I knew that it was all important to attack SCHOFIELD before he could make himself strong, and if he should escape at Franklin he would gain his works about Nashville. The nature of the position was such as to render it inexpedient to attempt any further flank movement, and I therefore determined to attack him in front and without delay. On the 30th of November STEWART's corps was placed in position on the right, CHEATHAM on the left, and the cavalry on either flank, the main body on the right under FORREST. JOHNSON's division of LEE's corps also became engaged on the left during the engagement. The line advanced at 4 P. M., with orders to drive the enemy, at the point of the bayonet, into or across the Big Harpeth River, while Gen. FORREST, if successful, was to cross the river and attack and destroy his trains and broken columns. The troops moved forward most gallantly to the attack. We carried the enemy's first line of hastily constructed works handsomely. We then advanced against his interior line, and succeeded in carrying it also, in some places. Here the engagement was of the fiercest possible character. Our men possessed themselves of the exterior of the works, while the enemy held the interior. Many of our men were killed entirely inside the works. The brave men captured were taken inside his works in the edge of the town. The struggle lasted till near midnight, when the enemy abandoned his works and crossed the river, leaving his dead and wounded in our possession. Never did troops fight more gallantly. The works of the enemy were so hastily constructed that, while he had a slight abatis in front of a part of his line, there was none on his extreme right. During the day I was restrained from using my artillery, on account of the women and children remaining in the town. At night it was massed, ready to continue the action in the morning, but the enemy retired. We captured about 1,000 prisoners and several stands of colors. Our total loss in killed, wounded and prisoners was 4,500. Among the killed was Major-Gen. P. R. Cleburne, Brig.-Gens. Gist, John Adams, Strahl and Granbury. Major-Gen. Brown, Brig.-Gens. Carter, Manigault, Quarles, Cockrell and Scott were wounded, and Brig.-Gen. Gordon captured. The number of dead left by the enemy on the field indicated that his loss was equal or near our own. The next morning, at daylight, the wounded being cared for and the dead buried, we moved forward toward Nashville, FORREST, with his cavalry, pursuing the enemy vigorously."

Such is an account of his famous effort in his own words. In his short but very interesting talk with me, Gen. HOOD gave me the impression that he is a man of high courage and reflection. He thinks over every word he speaks, as he did over every move he made when a prominent actor in the late great war. He told me that he intends to write some account of the operations in the form of his memoirs. The book will be one of interest. I was pleased to hear this brave man say, that on the downfall of the Confederacy, he advised all those with whom he had influence to accept the new order of things. Among other things, he said that an army of 60,000 or 70,000 men was a fine thing, and that they (the Confederates) never had more in any fight. In a quiet burst of feeling he said it was "the most glorious thing he could think of, to be in action," and this he thinks, though he is now maimed for life. I may state a humorous thing said by him about cavalry. I asked him if a square in two ranks was fit to meet a charge, and he said it was not fit to meet a charge of good cavalry, adding, with a light laugh, "If the men would only cut their reins, the horses would charge over the line of bayonets;" at which I said that would be a charge with "loosened reins." The home of the Ex-General is San Antonio, Texas, and he is on his way to New-Orleans to learn how his case is to be disposed of. By the side of J. B. H. I saw a large and corpulent man. This I learned, was HUMPHREY MARSHALL, late General C. S. A., but better known as a politician some years ago. There is nothing to note about his features. He is evidently a lover of the good things of this life, and wears a careless look. His eyes are large and intelligent. In dress he was very plain. In the years 1852, '53 and '54, this ex-rebel General was United States Minister to China, a post of some consequence; and in our war with Mexico he was a Colonel of cavalry. At the battle of Buena Vista he was at the head of all that arm. His age is about fifty-six to fifty-eight years. I found him to be a well-informed man, and very agreeable. In law he is well versed, being a lawyer; and in the politics and interests of this country he is well informed. In regard to Mexico, he said that, if the government desired to have control of the north of that country, it could obtain it by building a line of railroad from a point in Texas to El Paso, and by encouraging emigration in that direction. In time, he argued, all that territory would be acquired without a war. On the matter of negro labor, he said that the blacks ought to be required to labor for fair wages, but that Congress ought to leave the matter to the several States. It was a thing for local legislation. Mr. MARSHALL is on his way to New-Orleans, there to practice law, by permission of the General commanding the Division of the Gulf. By his social qualities and fund of information he made himself liked on board by every one.
